Premier King and His Colleagues Deal With Plans For Dominion-Provincial Conference

Financing Is Among Questions

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Oct. 25.—Prime Minister King and his new government came to grips to-day with the weighty problems awaiting attention.

Remaining at Laurier House during the morning to deal with some of the accumulation of work which he was forced to neglect during his political campaign, Mr. King met his cabinet this afternoon for the first real business session.

Initiation of new policies and study of problems necessarily left over by the outgoing administration always set up a heavy task for incoming governments. In the present instance the situation is complicated by extraordinary international questions such as the Italo-Ethiopian war, the Japanese trade dispute and relations between Great Britain and European powers.

King Cabinet Quickly Takes Up Tasks

Domestic-provincial conference, constitution of the national unemployment commission and matters relating to trade with Great Britain, the United States and Japan.

DUTIES REARRANGED

Important changes in the departmental system of handling Dominion affairs were made in the formation of the cabinet. The first change related to the merger of portfolios which reduced the departmental heads to fifteen instead of seventeen in the late government.

UNDER-SECRETARIES

In an announcement to the press Mr. King stated he would also create the system of appointing salaried full-time parliamentary secretaries for some of the departments, selected from members of the House of Commons, thus adopting the system long in vogue in the British government.

The portfolio of railways and canals was joined with that of marine, to become the Department of Transportation. The Interior Department merged with that of immigration and colonization, with the announcement that a suitable apportionment will be given the new portfolio when the necessary legislation to confirm the change is presented to Parliament.

No Solicitor-General was appointed and the work of that department, previously headed by a minister, will be taken on by the Minister of Justice. Taking into consideration the ministerial salaries and the salaries of those employed in the departments concerned, the merger will mean a substantial saving which, however, may be absorbed in the salaries to be paid to their parliamentary secretaries.

SENATE LEADER

In the outgoing cabinet there were seventeen cabinet ministers and four ministers without portfolio. Senator Dandridge, who will now lead the government party in the red chamber.

While Mr. King reduced the portfolios by three he separated labor from immigration and colonization, with which it had been merged since the death of Hon. Gideon Robertson, so the net reduction in portfolios as compared with the last government was two.

NEW SYSTEM

In a statement made public soon after the cabinet was sworn in, Mr. King said: "As a part of this reorganization of departments, which aims at efficiency, as well as economy, in matters of administration, it is the intention of the government to make provision, at the first session of Parliament, in the case of the more important departments, for the appointment of parliamentary secretaries, whose position will correspond to that of the parliamentary under-secretaries in the British House of Commons."

"The selection of parliamentary secretaries will be made in the same manner as that of the ministry itself. A salary will be attached to the position. . . .

"It has been a regret to me that it has not been possible to give representation in the cabinet to Prince Edward Island. . . .

"I intend, therefore, to see that in the list of parliamentary secretaries Prince Edward Island receives immediate recognition."

Canadian Press from Havas.

London, Oct. 25.—The Financial News to-day editorially expressed satisfaction at the "promising start" of the new Canadian government. The "good omen" noticed after the election were confirmed by Mackenzie King's cabinet list, it said.

"Mr. Mackenzie King has chosen a strong team from which extremists have been rigidly excluded. The majority of the new ministers have had considerable administrative experience and have a record for sound and constructive work in the same or similar spheres," he paper said.

"Alleviation of the debt burden, both public and private, and the railway situation are two major financial issues calling for early attention."

Jack Gillies, 1180 Hillside Avenue, twelve, brother of the previous witness, was also sitting near the steps. He heard the loud screeching of brakes, the scream of people and the crash.

He saw the Bird car bounce about seven or eight feet in the air, turn over and land on its side in the vacant lot. When he ran out he saw Mrs. McCarter lying on the sidewalk and the three Bird children which had been taken out of the car.

Constable R. P. Lanning testified he measured the skid mark down Hillside Avenue to the point of impact, which was sixty feet. From the point of impact there was a twenty-five-foot mark to the northwest corner, where the Findlay car rested on its side. After the removal of the injured persons both cars were taken to the police station.

TELLS OF INJURY

Dr. Gordon C. Kenning, who attended Mrs. and Mr. McCarter, told of injuries they sustained. Mrs. McCarter died on the stretcher on the way to the hospital and Mr. McCarter died at 8:35 a.m. on September 30, he said. Mrs. McCarter suffered a fractured skull, fractured thigh and several broken ribs, and Mr. McCarter had his right lung punctured, most of his ribs broken, a fractured pelvis and rupture of the urethra.

Detective Henry F. Jarvis, when on the witness stand, said, in answer to Mr. Beckwith, that Hillside Avenue experienced a heavier volume of traffic than Blackwood Avenue.

GRADE MEASUREMENTS

Cyril Jones, 425 St. Charles Street, assistant city engineer, produced a drawing of the intersection which was prepared after his survey.

B.C. RELIEF AT NEW LOW POINT

In the worst month of the depression, March, 1933, the list reached a figure of 128,858. The contraction since that time has thus been 52,000 or about 40 per cent.

The September figure includes 402 young men in forestry training camps and 103 in placer-mining, of which only 50 per cent are actual relief cases.

Although the lists have shown a steady decline this year, the bill for relief of all kinds in British Columbia will reach the considerable amount of $8,000,000, it is estimated. Of this the Dominion Government pays a flat sum of $150,000 a month or $1,800,000 for the year. The remaining $6,200,000 is borne between the province and the municipalities.

SURVEY SPEEDED UP

While the monthly returns give only a general picture of the unemployment situation, the department to-day was moving full speed ahead to complete a new survey which will uncover the real problem as to how many of those drawing relief actually could take up any work.

Special coding machines in the vital statistics branch have been enlisted for the work of classifying the information obtained in questionnaires for relief cases. Approximately 30,000 sets of answers are being coded.

The first results of this survey will, it is hoped, be completed early next month, because they will form an argument for B.C.'s work programme at the Dominion-provincial conference.

Relief authorities said the survey will be kept up to date throughout the winter until March, usually the peak month of the year, so that definite statistics may be obtained on seasonal and permanent jobs.

help. He died at 8:35 yesterday evening in the City Hospital, deliriously mumbling words which those by his bedside could not understand.

The afternoon he called a Roman Catholic priest who heard his confession and administered extreme unction while Schultz was being prepared for a second blood transfusion.

To the end Schultz maintained the silence which had characterized him from the moment police, answering a telephone call the racketeer himself made, found him holding his side and cursing the pain of his bullet wound.

TWO DIED TO-DAY

Bernard Rosenkrantz, Schultz's chauffeur and one of the quartette moved down in the safe-gun battle Wednesday night, died early to-day.

Otto Berman and Abraham Landau, who Leo Frank, the other members of Schultz's party, preceded their leader in death.

Detectives pressed their search for Albert Stern, twenty-one-year-old mobster, suspected of several recent killings in the metropolitan area. Charles Luciano, described by New York officials as "the most powerful gangster in Manhattan," also was sought for questioning.

"SHOCKY RACKET"

Associated Press

New York, Oct. 25.—Small loans with interest at the rate of 1040 per cent a year—and gangsters to collect—are the backbone of New York's "shocky racket," which police believe lead to the assassination of Dutch Schultz.

Loans are only $5 or $10 and the minimum payment on them is $1 a week, but the loans are seldom canceled.

"That's for interest," says the collector as he pockets the borrower's dollar.

The "shocky racket" has become so lucrative in New York, police say, that in the gangster's mind it is well worth a killing or two to obtain control.

The modern "shockys" meet the obligated one outside his place of employment on pay day. If the collector fails to get $1 on each $5 lent, a pair of slugs known as "enforcers" go after it.

average traffic proceeds, while Mr. Bird, with six passengers, was driving slowly north on Blackwood.

INSPECTOR MACHINE

Findlay appeared in court neatly dressed in a blue suit. He listened intently to the proceedings, his countenance remaining unchanged.

When the court adjourned to the yard he made a brief inspection of the machine he drove in the crash.

When the prosecution closed its case defence was reserved and the accused made no statement. His bail bond of $10,000 has not been raised.

Ernest William Bird testified he was driving north on Blackwood Avenue with his wife, three children and Mr. and Mrs. McCarter.

"I slowed down at the intersection and looked to the left and right. I saw nothing and proceeded across," Mr. Bird testified. Suddenly on my right I saw a car coming at a pretty fast speed. I thought I had ample time to get in front of him so I proceeded through the intersection.

UNDERESTIMATED SPEED

"I had just passed over the car tracks when I could see I had vastly underestimated his speed and he hit my car in the centre. I knew nothing after that until I found myself in the road on my hands and knees trying to get up."

He described how he went to see if his wife was all right and had told her the children were not seriously hurt.

Mr. Bird could not estimate the speed of the other car but he saw it was "coming pretty fast." He had been driving a car for eighteen years.

To H. L. Beckwith, defence counsel, Mr. Bird said he had driven often over the intersection, it being his custom to drive Mr. and Mrs. McCarter home after church on Sundays.

In the front seat with him were his wife and one daughter, and the elderly couple and two younger children in the back.

HAD PLANNED PICNIC

There was also packed luncheon in the back of the car, it being the intention of the family to go for a picnic to the beach, Mr. Bird testified.

Mr. Bird told Mr. Beckwith his eyesight was "first-rate" and he had no eye defects.

Witnesses agreed with Mr. Beckwith's suggestion that the broom on the south-east corner of the intersection interfered with vision to some extent.

DID NOT APPLY BRAKES

Questioned further, Mr. Bird said he was clear of the Hillside curb-line on Blackwood when he first saw the Findlay car.

"I did not put my brakes on because I was sure if I did he would hit me," Mr. Bird said.

"My last impression before he hit me was that the car was out of control but he had no brakes," Mr. Bird said. He had heard no sound of brakes being applied.

EYEWITNESS'S STORY

Miss Irene A. McPherson, 1221 Montrose Avenue, was an eyewitness to the crash from the northwest corner of the intersection. She saw the Findlay car come down Hillside Avenue "faster than cars usually come down there." The Bird car was proceeding slowly, she testified.

The Bird car was struck near the rear on the left side. It jumped about six feet in the air then turned over and landed in the vacant lot.

She identified Findlay as the driver of the car which had come down Hillside Avenue.

Mrs. McCarter was thrown out of the car on the sidewalk. Miss McPherson said. She picked up one of the girls and held her until some one took the girl away.

At the time of impact the rear wheels of the Bird car were still on the car tracks while the front wheels were on the clear pavement on the north side of Hillside Avenue. Miss McPherson told Mr. Beckwith.

DID NOT SEE SKID

Miss McPherson testified she did not notice the Findlay car skid. She told the court she saw Findlay brise himself just before the impact.

For Mr. Curran, who testified he was driving west on Hillside Avenue.

As he approached Higgins Street a car passed him going in the same direction. "I was going about twenty miles an hour and he was going about thirty," he testified.

When Mr. Curran reached Cook Street the other car (Findlay's) had reached Blackwood Avenue where he saw the crash.

The speed of the Findlay car did not diminish, he testified.

YOUNG BROTHERS TESTIFY

Archibald Gillies, fourteen, who lives at the northwest corner of Blackwood and Hillside Avenues, testified he was sitting on the back steps of his home when he heard the brakes of the car.

He looked up and saw the crash and saw the Bird car jump in the air and land in the vacant lot adjoining his house.

The boy helped remove the injured persons from the Bird car. He told Mr. Beckwith the sound of the brakes was loud and plainly heard around the intersection.

Jack Gillies, 1180 Hillside Avenue, twelve, brother of the previous witness, was also sitting near the steps. He heard the loud screeching of brakes, the scream of people and the crash.

He saw the Bird car bounce about seven or eight feet in the air, turn over and land on its side in the vacant lot. When he ran out he saw Mrs. McCarter lying on the sidewalk and the three Bird children which had been taken out of the car.

British Parliament Dissolved; Campaign Gathers Headway

At 11:15 a.m. three resounding knocks announced the presence of the Black Rod, who, in the formal phrase, summoned faithful members of the House of Commons to the House of Peers, where Parliament was prorogued.

After the Lord Chancellor had read the speech, members returned to their own chamber and in turn bade goodbye to the Speaker.

DISSOLUTION

To-night this Parliament will be dissolved by royal proclamation, and a new one will be elected November 14. It will meet November 26 for the swearing in of members and the selection of the Speaker, but it will not be formally opened by the King until December 3, the day after the international naval conference is scheduled to begin its work here.

Reading the Speech from the Throne to the members of the Commons and House of Lords, on behalf of the King, the Lord Chancellor said: "My Lords and members of the House of Commons."

"To both the Queen and myself, this, my Silver Jubilee year, will ever remain one of our happiest memories. The wonderful tributes of affection we have received from every part of our empire will be treasured in our hearts as long as we live."

"I was happy to welcome to London my Prime Ministers of my Dominions overseas and the representative of India, who came to take part in the celebration of my Silver Jubilee."

ITALO-ETHIOPIA DISPUTE

"My relations with foreign powers continue to be friendly."

"Some critical situation which has unhappily arisen between Italy and Abyssinia has aroused my gravest concern."

"Since the moment the dispute occurred between the two countries as a result of the frontier incident in December last year, by government have exerted themselves to the utmost, both individually and in co-operation with other states, members of the League of Nations, to promote a peaceful settlement."

"To my regret, these persistent endeavours did not avail to prevent a resort to force, and my government have loyally supported the efforts of the League of Nations with a view to the restoration of peace and the achievement of an equitable settlement in the spirit of the covenant."

After a reference to the passing of the India Act, the speech said: "A more confident spirit in industry, the continued growth in national revenue and the prudent and successful management of our financial affairs have permitted a further considerable advance toward prosperity."

"I am gratified to observe a further steady increase of employment among my people during the past year."

TRADE INCREASE

"The effects of the increase in employment cannot but be felt to a greater or less degree in all localities, but in some areas the problem of unemployment continues to present special difficulties."

AIR FORCE INCREASE

"While my government have not ceased and will not cease their continuing efforts to promote the limitation and reduction by international agreement of all forms of armament, it has been found impossible to postpone further the expansion of the Royal Air Force, to strengthen which will enable it to fulfil its vital duties in national and imperial defence, and the programme necessary to give effect to this has now been undertaken."

"Far-reaching proposals have been announced for the improvement and acceleration of imperial air communications and plans for their further development are under active consideration."

Peace Talks in Europe Still on Vague Basis

Italy. The Italian division withdrawn from Libya, on the Egyptian frontier, is now being definitely returned to Italy.

Mussolini is also understood to have retreated from his original position that Italy must have military control of Ethiopia.

But a big gap still remains between the Italian demands—as so far indicated—and what would be considered in London a just and fair settlement for all three parties, the League, Italy and Ethiopia.

VAGUE TALKS

So far, indeed, it is intimated the peace talks between Rome, Paris and London, have been so vague as to leave only a slight expectation of satisfactory settlement at an early date. One authority describes them to-day as "like hitting a ghost."

MEDITERRANEAN SHIPS

British naval strength in the Mediterranean is practically unchanged. The battleship-Resolition will leave Alexandria to-day for home, but she will be replaced by the battleship Ramillies. They will pass each other somewhere between Gibraltar and the United Kingdom. They are vessels of the same class, each carrying eight 15-inch guns.

withdrawal from the League of Nations.

The noted commentator "Pettinax" said Prime Minister Baldwin's recent statements justified a prediction that "when the time comes, an effort would be put forward to bring Germany back into the League through a programme of treaty revisions."

Pettinax presumably referred to Mr. Baldwin's recent mention of strengthening the League to include non-members.

Reichsfuehrer Hitler was reported in the newspaper L'Ouvre to be seeking to abolish the Rhineland demilitarized zone in "eventual" negotiations for revision of the Locarno pact.

Genevieve Tabouis, the newspaper's diplomatic correspondent, said Hitler considered an understanding with France impossible "and prefers to draw nearer to British policy for resistance against French demands."

CONCESSIONS BY ITALY

Premier Mussolini, anxious to avoid application of sanctions against Italy for its warfare on Ethiopia, was reported to have made three notable concessions toward peace negotiations.

The commentator Genevieve Tabouis, said he had learned from Rome:

Dominion-provincial conference, constitution of the national unemployment commission and matters relating to trade with Great Britain, the United States and Japan.

DUTIES REARRANGED
Important changes in the departmental system of handling Dominion affairs were made in the formation of the cabinet. The first change related to the merger of portfolios which reduced the departmental heads to fifteen instead of seventeen as in the late government.

UNDER-SECRETARIES
In an announcement to the press Mr. King stated he would also create the system of appointing salaried, full-time parliamentary secretaries for some of the departments, selected from members of the House of Commons, thus adopting the system long in vogue in the British government.

The portfolio of railways and canals was joined with that of marine, to become the Department of Transportation. The Interior Department merged with that of immigration and colonization, with the announcement that a suitable apportionment will be given the new portfolio when the necessary legislation is passed.

tion to confirm the change is presented to Parliament.
No Solicitor-General was appointed and the work of that department, previously headed by a minister, will be taken on by the Minister of Justice. Taking into consideration the ministerial salaries and the salaries of those employed in the departments concerned, the merger will mean a substantial saving which, however, may be absorbed in the salaries to be paid to their parliamentary secretaries.

SENATE LEADER
In the outgoing cabinet there were seventeen cabinet ministers and four ministers without portfolio. Mr. King has appointed only one minister without portfolio, Senator Raul Dandurand, who will now head the government party in the red chamber.

While Mr. King reduced the portfolio by three he re-organized labor from immigration and colonization, with which it had been merged since the death of Hon. Gideon Robertson, so the net reduction in portfolios as compared with the last government was two.

NEW SYSTEM
In a statement made public soon after the cabinet was sworn in, Mr. King said:

"As a part of this reorganization of departments, which aims at efficiency, as well as economy, in matters of administration, it is the intention of the government to make provision, at the first session of Parliament, in the case of the more important departments, for the appointment of parliamentary secretaries, whose position will correspond to that of the parliamentary under-secretaries in the British House of Commons."

The selection of parliamentary secretaries will be made in the same manner as that of the ministry itself. A salary will be attached to the position.

"It has been a regret to me that it has not been possible to give representation in the cabinet to Prince Edward Island....
"I intend, therefore, to see that in the list of parliamentary secretaries Prince Edward Island receives immediate recognition."

Canadian Press from Havas
London, Oct. 25.—The Financial News-to-day editorially expressed satisfaction at the "promising start" of the new Canadian government. The "good omen" noticed after the election were confirmed by MacKenzie King's cabinet list, it said.
"Mr. Mackenzie King has chosen a strong team from which extremists have been rigidly excluded. The majority of the new ministers have had considerable administrative experience and have a record for sound and constructive work in the same or similar spheres," he paper said.

"Alleviation of the debt burden, both public and private, and the railway situation are two major financial issues calling for early attention. Both require firm handling and appointment of Charles Avery Dunning as Finance Minister is an assurance of balanced judgment backed by wide business experience in that important post."

CONVICTION TO BE APPEALED

"My duty is obligatory," explained the judge.
There was no emotional display on the part of the convicted men, Richardson and Alex stood, impassive and immobile, in the prisoners dock as they were sentenced. The eyes of Eneas glinted from his hospital stretcher. Joseph furtively wiped a tear away.

A large crowd, who had gathered for the closing scene, heard the death sentence pronounced.
"Richardson George have you anything to say why the sentence of the court should not be pronounced against you?" the first was asked.
"I have nothing to say," replied the prisoner through the interpreter, Albert Sterling.
Eneas replied he would say the same as Richardson, and Alex answered "No."
"Richardson George, stand up," said the chief justice. "You have been found guilty of murder by the jury. I have no option but to sentence you."

The same was said to Eneas and Alex.
Dr. Gordon C. Kenning, who attended Mr. and Mrs. McCarter, told of injuries they sustained. Mrs. McCarter died on the stretcher on the way to the hospital and Mr. McCarter died at 8:35 a.m. on September 30, he said. Mrs. McCarter suffered a fractured skull, fractured thigh and several broken ribs, and Mr. McCarter had his right lung punctured, most of his ribs broken, a fractured pelvis and rupture of the urethra.
Detective Henry F. Jarvis, when on the witness stand, said, in answer to Mr. Beckwith, that Hillside Avenue experienced a heavier volume of traffic than Blackwood Avenue.
GRADE MEASUREMENTS
Cyril Jones, 425 St. Charles Street, assistant city engineer, produced a drawing of the intersection which was prepared after his survey.

Witnesses Say Death Car Tossed Six Feet

average traffic proceeds, while Mr. Bird, with six passengers, was driving slowly north on Blackwood.

INSPECTS MACHINE
Findlay appeared in court neatly dressed in a blue suit. He listened intently to the proceedings, his countenance remaining unchanged. When the court adjourned to the yard he made a brief inspection of the machine he drove in the crash. When the prosecution closed its case defense was reserved and the accused made no statement. His bail bond of $10,000 has not been raised.
Ernest William Bird testified he was driving north on Blackwood Avenue with his wife, three children and Mr. and Mrs. McCarter.
"I slowed down at the intersection and looked to the left and right. I saw nothing and proceeded across," Mr. Bird testified. Suddenly on my right I saw a car coming at a pretty fast speed. I thought I had ample time to get in front of it, so I proceeded through the intersection.

UNDERESTIMATED SPEED
"I had just passed over the car tracks when I could see I had vastly underestimated its speed and he hit my car in the centre. I knew nothing about that until I found myself in the road on my hands and knees trying to get up."

He described how he went to see if his wife was all right and had told her the children were not seriously hurt.
Mr. Bird could not estimate the speed of the other car but he saw it was "coming pretty fast." He had been driving a car for eighteen years. To E. L. Beckwith, defense counsel, Mr. Bird said he had driven often over the intersection, it being his custom to drive Mr. and Mrs. McCarter home after church on Sundays.

In the front seat with him were his wife and one daughter, and the elderly couple and two younger children in the back.

HAD PLANNED PICNIC
There was also packed luncheon in the back of the car, it being the intention of the family to go for a picnic to the beach, Mr. Bird testified. Mr. Bird told Mr. Beckwith his eyesight was "first-rate" and he had no eye defects.

Witness agreed with Mr. Beckwith's suggestion that the broom on the south-east corner of the intersection interfered with vision to some extent.

DID NOT APPLY BRAKES
Questioned further, Mr. Bird said he was clear of the Hillside curb-line on Blackwood when he first saw the Findlay car.

"I did not put my brakes on because I was sure if I did he would hit me," Mr. Bird said.
"My last impression before he hit me was that the car was out of control but he had no brakes," Mr. Bird said. He had heard no sound of brakes being applied.

EYEWITNESS'S STORY

Miss Irene A. McPherson, 1221 Montrose Avenue, was an eyewitness to the crash. She saw the Findlay car come down Hillside Avenue "faster than cars usually come down there." The Bird car was proceeding slowly, she testified.

The Bird car was struck near the rear door and when hit it jumped about six feet in the air then turned over and landed in the vacant lot.

She identified Findlay as the driver of the car which had come down Hillside Avenue.

Mrs. McCarter was thrown out of the car on to the sidewalk, Miss McPherson said. She picked up one of the girls and held her until some one took the girl away.

At the time of impact the rear wheels of the Bird car were still in the car tracks "while the front wheels were on the sidewalk," she said.

Harvey Ivor Curtis, 3740 Carey Road, testified he was driving west on Hillside Avenue.

As he approached Higgins Street a car passed him going in the same direction. "I was going about twenty miles an hour and he was going about twice as fast," witness said.

When Mr. Curtis reached Cook Street the other car (Findlay's) had reached Blackwood Avenue where he saw the crash.

The speed of the Findlay car did not diminish, he testified.
YOUNG BROTHERS TESTIFY
Archibald Gillies, fourteen, who lives at the northwest corner of Blackwood and Hillside Avenues, testified he was sitting on the back steps of his home when he heard the brakes of cars. He looked up and saw the crash and saw the Bird car jump in the air and land in the vacant lot adjoining his house.

The judge removed the injured persons from the Bird car. He told Mr. Beckwith the sound of the brakes was loud and plainly heard around the intersection.
Jack Gillies, 1150 Hillside Avenue, twelve, brother of the previous witness, was also sitting near the steps. He heard the loud screeching of brakes, the scream of people and the crash.
He saw the Bird car bounce about seven or eight feet in the air, turn over and land on its side in the vacant lot. When he ran to the car he saw Mrs. McCarter lying on the sidewalk and the three Bird children which had been taken out of the car.
Constable R. P. Lanning testified he measured the skid mark down Hillside Avenue to the point of impact, which was sixty feet.
Witnesses also testified there was a twenty-five-foot mark to the northwest corner, where the Findlay car rested on its side. After the removal of the injured persons both cars were taken to the police station.

At 11.15 a.m. three resounding knocks announced the presence of the Black Rod, who, in the formal phrase, summoned faithful members of the House of Commons to the House of Peers, where Parliament was prorogued.

After the Lord Chancellor had read the speech, members returned to their own chambers and in turn bade goodbye to the Speaker.

DISOLUTION
To-night this Parliament will be dissolved by royal proclamation, and a new one will be elected November 14. It will meet November 26 for the swearing in of members and the selection of the Speaker, but it will not be formally opened by the King until December 3, the day after the international naval conference is scheduled to begin its work here.

Reading the Speech from the Throne to the members of the Commons and House of Lords, on behalf of the King, the Lord Chancellor said: "My Lords and members of the House of Commons:

"To both the Queen and myself, this, my Silver Jubilee year, will ever remain one of our happiest memories. The wonderful tributes of affection we have received from every part of my empire will be treasured in our hearts as long as we live."
"I was happy to welcome to London my Prime Ministers of my Dominions overseas and the representative of India, who came to take part in the celebration of my Silver Jubilee."

ITALO-ETHIOPIA DISPUTE
"My relations with foreign powers continue to be friendly."
"The critical situation which has unhappily arisen between Italy and Abyssinia has aroused my gravest concern."

"Since the moment the dispute occurred between the two countries as a result of the frontier incident in December last year, by government have exerted themselves to the utmost, both individually and in co-operation with other states, members of the League of Nations, to promote a peaceful settlement."

"But regret, these persistent endeavors did not avail to prevent a resort to force, and my government have loyally supported the efforts of the League of Nations with a view to the restoration of peace and the achievement of an equitable settlement in the spirit of the covenant."

After a reference to the passing of the India Act, the speech said: "A more confident spirit in industry, the continued growth in national revenue and the prudent and successful management of our financial affairs have permitted a further considerable advance toward prosperity."

"I am gratified to observe a further steady increase of employment among my people during the past year."

TRADE INCREASE

AIR FORCE INCREASE

"Far-reaching proposals have been announced for the improvement and consolidation of imperial air communications and plans for their further development are under active consideration."

Italy. The Italian division withdrawn from Libya, on the Egyptian frontier, is now being definitely returned to Italy.

Mussolini is also understood to have retreated from his original position that Italy must have military control of Ethiopia.

But a big gap still remains between the Italian demands—as so far indicated—and what would be considered in London a just and fair settlement for all three parties, the League, Italy and Ethiopia.

VAGUE TALKS
So far, indeed, it is intimated the peace talks between Rome, Paris and London, have been so vague as to leave only a slight expectation of satisfactory settlement at an early date. One authority describes them to-day as "like hitting a ghost."

MEDITERRANEAN SHIPS

British naval strength in the Mediterranean is practically unchanged. The battleship Resolution will leave Alexandria to-day for home, but she will be replaced by the battleship Ramillies. They will pass each other somewhere between Gibraltar and the United Kingdom. They are vessels of the same class, each carrying eight 15-inch guns.

TREATY REVISION
Paris, Oct. 25.—Revision of treaties in Germany's favor was reported by the French press to-day to be under consideration in London and Berlin as an outgrowth of the Italo-Ethiopian conflict and the Reich's withdrawal from the League of Nations.

CONCESSIONS BY ITALY

Premier Mussolini, anxious to avoid application of sanctions against Italy for its warfare on Ethiopia, was reported to have made three notable concessions toward peace negotiations.

The commentator Genevieve Tabouis, said he had learned from Rome:

1. If Duce would not consider that withdrawal of some of his troops from Libya required as a counterpart removal of some of the British warships from the Mediterranean.

2. He would undertake to suspend actual military operations and discontinue sending troops to Africa until Great Britain replies to his suggestions.

3. If Britain finds these suggestions an acceptable basis for negotiations, Duce would be willing they be turned over to the League of Nations.

French officials said, however, Mussolini thus far had failed to offer any proposals which might be likely to serve as basis for the negotiations.

COLD FRONT

Berlin, Oct. 25 (Associated Press)—Germany has presented a cold front to unofficial French efforts toward a Franco-German rapprochement, informed sources said to-day, while Reich officials have given evidence of a mild antipathy toward Great Britain.

The chilling of feeling in official circles here toward Britain was evident as the British drove forward insistently at Geneva for sanctions against Italy as the aggressor nation in the East African conflict. Only four months ago Germany and Britain concluded a bilateral agreement for restriction of the Reich's navy to 35 per cent of the British tonnage.

An official order has gone out to rectify a disposition on the part of the inspired German press to be critical of Italy's prosecution of the Ethiopian war.

RAILLYING POINTS

The fortress town of Mahale in the north and Gortabel in the south were the rallying points for major bodies of Ethiopians detected by Italian air scouts.

A small, third Italian army was reported endeavoring to creep in from Asaba, Briten, to a point where it might eventually attack the flank or rear of either Ethiopian army.

General Emilio de Bono on the north had his lines somewhere forward of Adigrat, Aduwa and Aksum, his three main columns totaling more than 100,000 men in the last advance.

WILD SCENE

IN ADDIS ABABA

Associated Press
Addis Ababa, Oct. 25.—Ethiopia's former Minister of War, Fitawrari Birru, once exiled and then pardoned by Emperor Haile Selassie, rode triumphantly into the capital to-day as the head of a huge army.

The 1,000 shrieking Kaffa tribal warriors rushed in review past the Emperor, who stood admiringly on a balcony of his palace, apparently more confident in the strength of his armies than at any time since the war with Italy began.

Emperor Haile Selassie also reviewed 10,000 Galla swordsmen. "Oh, Emperor, give us modern rifles so we may slaughter our enemies," shouted the warriors, throwing down their old-fashioned and blunderbusses before him.

Other warriors performed African war dances, brandishing swords and daggers at imaginary enemies.

FOR FIVE HOURS

The medieval cavalcade occupied five hours, after which the feudal chiefs were received by the Emperor, who kissed them on both cheeks.

The influx of warriors hastened to climax the Emperor's dispatch of tens of thousands of additional troops to the front.

Dejazmach Makonnen Demisse, governor of Wallega, will arrive in the capital next Tuesday en route to the front with 60,000 men, to be followed by Dejazmach Makonnen Abnesh, governor of Gore province with 50,000 followers and Dejazmach Taye, governor of Shoa-Ghimrit, with 10,000.

THE NEW MINISTRY

PRIME MINISTER MACKENZIE KING'S ministry has been chosen with an eye to provincial representation, the retention of prominent members of the administration which existed before the election of 1930 and the introduction of a considerable leaven of new material. All of the provinces are represented with the exception of Alberta and Prince Edward Island, but Mr. King proposes to have departmental under-secretaries in accordance with the practice in Great Britain, all of whom will be members of Parliament, and one of whom will be from the island province on the Atlantic.

The appointment of under-secretaries was recommended by Sir George Murray in his report on the Canadian public service some twenty years ago. They will relieve the ministers of a great deal of detail, enabling them to devote more attention to the pressing matters of administration and policy. Alberta, having sent fifteen Social Crediters to Ottawa out of a representation of seventeen, for the time being will have no member in the ministry.

Ontario has four ministers and Quebec four, but if Mr. Dunning, Minister of Finance, who, while formerly a member from Saskatchewan, now resides in Montreal, should run for a Quebec seat, the old province would have five. Saskatchewan will have two ministers if Premier Gardiner should accept Mr. King's invitation to enter the cabinet as Minister of Agriculture. The Prime Minister himself is the member for Prince Albert. British, Manitoba, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia will have one minister each.

Of the cabinet which went out of office five years ago, Mr. King has retained Hon. Ernest Lapointe, who resumes his former post of Minister of Justice; Hon. Thomas A. Crerar, Hon. P. J. C. Dunning, Hon. C. A. Dunning, Hon. J. C. Elliott, Hon. W. D. Euler, Hon. F. Rinfret. Missing will be Hon. J. L. Ralston, Hon. W. Motherwell, Hon. P. Vniot, Hon. James Malcolm, Hon. Charles Stewart, Hon. Lucien Caron and Hon. Peter Heenan. The newcomers are Hon. J. L. Isley, a prominent barrister of Halifax; Hon. C. G. Power, of Quebec, Hon. J. E. Michaud of New Brunswick, Hon. Norman Rogers of Kingston, Ontario; Hon. Clarence Howe of Port Arthur, Ontario. Of the new ministers all but Messrs. Rogers and Howe were in the House of Commons prior to 1930.

Switches of portfolios in some instances are probable, since new ministers, particularly, must find their niches as time goes by. There also will be new cabinet designations. For example, Hon. T. A. Crerar, who was sworn in as Minister of Mines, Immigration and Colonization, Interior and Indian Affairs, will be known as Minister of Natural Resources. Hon. Mr. Howe, who now is Minister of Marine, Railways and Canals will be Minister of Transportation. The only ministers who retain the portfolios they held in the former Liberal administration are Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Hon. C. A. Dunning and Hon. Fernand Rinfret.

The cabinet includes some able and experienced administrators. Hon. C. A. Dunning, who has yet to find a seat, will be remembered as one of the most efficient heads of the important finance department in a long list of competent ministers in that branch of the public service. Before going to Ottawa he was Premier of Saskatchewan, and his long residence in that province and his familiarity with the west generally and its problems, peculiarly fit him for a post which in recent years has had much to do with matters of policy affecting the four western provinces.

Hon. T. A. Crerar, who will administer the Department of the Interior, Immigration, Colonization and Mines, is another prominent western man who has had previous administrative experience. He was a member of the Union Government formed for war purposes in 1917, but resigned in 1919 owing to a disagreement over the government's tariff policy. After that he became leader of the Liberal-Progressive Party. He entered the cabinet of Mr. Mackenzie King in 1929. He has been conspicuously identified with the cause of the grain-growers under many heads, and his inclusion in the new ministry will be warmly welcomed throughout the prairie provinces.

It was inevitable that Mr. Lapointe again should be Minister of Justice, and his reappointment to that office will be received with widespread satisfaction. He is one of the ablest of Canada's parliamentarians, is popular on all sides, and his record as an administrator has been universally acclaimed.

Hon. Ian Mackenzie, British Columbia's minister at Ottawa, is the new Minister of National Defence. Mr. Mackenzie became Minister of Immigration in 1930, just prior to the federal election in which the Liberal government was defeated. He will succeed Col. J. L. Ralston as Liberal head of the defence department, to which his interest in military matters as well as his geographical representation notably adapts him. Canada's chief defence problem really lies on the Pacific Coast, and Mr. Mackenzie therefore has been allotted a portfolio of unusual significance.

Mr. King has been fortunate in having so much former cabinet material available for his new ministry. He had a wide field of selection, with 170 elected supporters, and we may be sure that his deep sense of responsibility to the country prompted him to a careful study of his first problem before he dealt with it. None of his colleagues will be a rubber stamp. Much will be expected from all of them, especially in view of the scope they will have in the discharge of their duties, and the fact that they will be independent of support from groups outside their own party.

NEW MINISTER OF LABOR

NOT THE LEAST INTERESTING OF the cabinet appointments made by Premier Mackenzie King is that of Mr. Norman McLeod Rogers as the Minister of Labor. It has been pretty much a habit of Prime Ministers in filling this office to choose men with direct affiliations with one or another of the chief labor groups. The choices made by Mr. Bennett on such a basis proved unfortunate, although Mr. King in the years before 1930 had in Mr. Peter Heenan, the northern Ontario locomotive engineer, a Minister of Labor who proved himself an able administrator.

This time, Mr. King has gone to the faculty of Queen's University for his minister. Mr. Rogers, Nova Scotia born, was a Rhodes scholar at Oxford after he returned from war service overseas. He has been professor of history at Acadia, and since 1929 professor of political economy at Queen's. He was counsel last year for the government of Nova Scotia before the Royal Commission of Economic Inquiry. He has many writings on economic and constitutional questions to his credit. Altogether, he is one of the bright minds of the Canadian generation that has come to maturity since the war and is already a person of attainments.

Although not a labor man in the vocational sense of the term, Mr. Rogers enters office in the cabinet of Canada with a full understanding of the labor problems of the country, gained through his work on them as a specialist on social and industrial reform. His socially-minded attitude towards problems which will now come before him as minister has been indicated in some of the things he wrote in his "Mackenzie King" biography last year. Quoting Mr. King as saying that "industry exists for the sake of humanity, and not humanity for the sake of industry," and that industry must come to be looked upon as social service if it is to serve humanity, Mr. Rogers in this book goes on to say:

"No longer must industry be thought of as a mere revenue-producing process, in which capital, labor, management and the community meet like so many rival and contending factions, each to appropriate to itself by force or might the largest possible share of the fruits of industry. Industry must be thought of, as in reality it is, as in the nature of social service; and participation in industry, whether in the form of labor or capital investment, as social service of the highest kind, since upon its successful accomplishment rest all other forms of human service."

Thus he reaches the position where "when voluntary effort can not be relied upon effectively to safeguard the life and health of workers, interference and regulation by the state becomes imperative."

With his leader, Mr. Rogers shares his belief in the importance of investigation as a method of preventing social wrongs and remedying social injustice. Investigation, as he has written, means "publicity in the matter of profits as well as in the matter of wages, in the disclosure of excess profits as well as in the exposure of all forms of profiteering," with the objective of an intelligently-formed public opinion, "which may be relied upon to remove injustice and remedy wrongs."

Because of the intelligence Mr. Rogers has manifested in his approach and consideration of social and economic problems, the country will look with hope for his contributions during the coming months as a minister towards easing its stresses.

In the Old World, at least, as The Portland Oregonian remarks, there is equality left. Any little European boy has a chance to grow up and some day become an unknown soldier.

Attention is drawn by The Boston Herald to a dispatch from Rome which says Il Duce sees eye to eye now with the important members of his cabinet. It may be he just strolls around and looks in the mirrors.

Hon. H. H. Stevens will be the loneliest man in Parliament. He will be anathema to the Conservatives, of course, and can not expect consolation from the Liberals. However, there may be room for him in the Social Credit or C.C.F. groups. This would be a rather interesting finish for the ambitious Reconstruction Party.

The flight of gold across the Atlantic reflects chiefly the fear of another general conflagration in Europe. The fact that those who have exported it realize that it is safer in America is something of a tribute to the sanity of this continent. It is not hard to imagine what would have happened to Mexico and South America if they had been as conveniently adapted to "colonization" by force as Africa is. They would have been carved into unrecognizable fragments long ago, and the major powers would have had a dozen wars over the loot. In that case we wonder where gold would have found a safe and snug haven.

A recount in West York transfers that constituency from the Conservative to the Liberal column. This will reduce the strength of the late government party in the House to forty, the smallest number it ever has had. It increases the straight Liberal following to 170 out of 245 seats. If to this we add the four Independent Liberals in Quebec, two Liberal-Progressives, and one Independent in British Columbia, all of whom will give general support to the King administration, the new government will have 177, leaving an opposition of just sixty-eight, divided between Conservatives, Social Crediters, C.C.F.s, Labor and Mr. Stevens, solitary Reconstructionist.

ON PRAISING THE WIFE

Should I say: "My dear, to me
You are clever as can be!"
This reply would floor me flat:
"Clever! I am far from that."

As her husband should I boast
Of the way she makes my toast
And her apple pie recall,
She'd say: "I can't cook at all!"

Should I say, a friend to please:
"Strum the old piano keys!"
She would promptly turn and say:
"You know well I cannot play."

Should I say: "Had I my choice
I would rather hear your voice
Than the choristers of spring."
She'd reply: "I never sing!"

But if, glancing from my book,
I'd remark: "How nice you look!"
That as gospel truth she'd credit,
Saying: "Well, it's time you said it!"

Loose Ends

One finds Vancouver is still Vancouver, as usual—with libel from Percy—Mystery in narrative—Wild driving everywhere—And more cheer in the air.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

LONG SOJOURN

SINCE I LAST filled this column, I have been living for some six months in Vancouver. You can easily live six months in Vancouver, of course, in the same space that it requires to live in Victoria for twenty-four hours. That, in fact, is the precise time I have been in Vancouver. In twenty-four hours here you can be whirled through so many comic (No, Archibald, not comic) adventures that you are quite exhausted by lunch time, and homeick long before dinner.

Right now I am homeick for the plain wholesome diet of dear old Victoria, for the oak trees and autumn leaves and even for the traffic lights on Douglas Street; even though I have been away from them only a day and a night. It is only when you are sitting in a room in the top floor of the teeming Hotel Vancouver and looking down on the insect procession of Granville Street and waiting until 2 o'clock to get your lunch that you realize how much Victoria means to you, how deeply ingrained into your nature are the peace, sanity, superior intelligence and even the superior traffic lights of our own homeland so far across the sea.

LIBEL

THE FIRST THING I ran into this morning was an article in The Province scandalously libelling me. It came from the pen of my old friend Percy, whom I have systematically libelled for years, every time we went fishing. It is all very well for me to libel Percy but I think it is going too far when Percy turns around and libels me on the editorial page of The Province on the very day when the Province expects some sign of hospitality from Vancouver.

Percy, it appears from the article, has been fishing without me in the interior of British Columbia and, being without me, has actually caught a fish. He indicates pretty clearly that if I had been alone he wouldn't have caught even that one fish and he calls me a consummate liar, a reckless libeller, a consistent consumer of his good rum, all of which are libelous, and he ends with the boast that he caught no ordinary fish, but fish No. 739.

Yes, it turns out that all Percy's vainglorious boasting is about a fish which bore a tag numbered 739, which the Federal Government fisheries department had placed on one of its fins. In other words, Percy had caught merely a poor, browbeaten official fish trained by the government, with years of scientific coaching, to bite the first hook that comes along. This is Percy, the man who talks about my fishing, the man who catches tame, trained fish as you might capture the inmates of an aquarium.

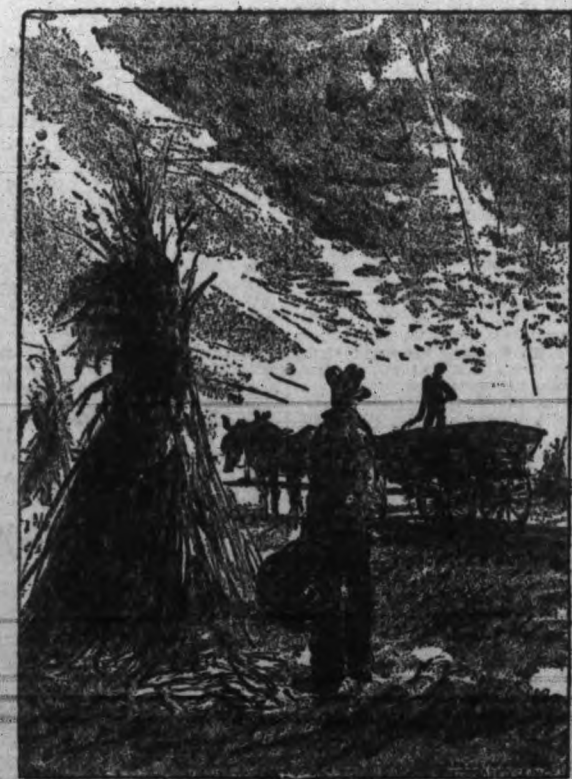

INSIDE STUFF

BUT WHAT VANCOUVER is chiefly interested in now, strange to relate, is not my fishing, but the case of Messrs. McGeer and Webster. I have had it from a leading Conservative statesman in strict confidence that Mr. McGeer is definitely broken and that the official recount in Burrard will seat Mr. Webster. He explained to me behind his hand, looking up and down Granville Street to make sure that no one saw him, that the Liberals had miscalculated the total Webster vote because some fellow on the campaign committee wrote down the figures 112 and the two first figures became blurred and the total was read as forty-two. A few minutes later, one of British Columbia's most prominent and influential Liberal statesmen took me to a restaurant, nay, bought my breakfast, just to prove to me that Mr. McGeer had definitely won the seat by four votes. This, he said, was the inside stuff.

As I am more deeply involved in this election result than either Mr. McGeer or Mr. Webster, having wagered $10 on it in a moment of opposite passion, which I soon regretted, you may imagine that I was too excited even to eat the free Liberal breakfast. This was distressing indeed. It is so seldom that you get a free breakfast from a statesman.

WILD RIDE

NEVER AGAIN WILL I treacherously condemn the traffic of Victoria, which has been called by visitors the most dangerous and uncontrolled in the world. I have just ridden across Vancouver with Jack Boothe, the famous cartoonist of The Vancouver Province. Mr. Boothe has a car specially built for traffic in Vancouver. It has only three wheels so that it can go around corners on one only. It is so light that when Mr. Boothe wanted to slide into a parking space five feet long he came opposite it and the two of us shoved his strange vehicle into the curb sideways. Two men can easily lift it.

We came up Granville Street just now dodging the traffic like a rabbit and whenever we seemed likely to hit anyone we just dove between his legs. Every time it was necessary to stop for a traffic light, Mr. Boothe put on the brakes and his car executed a complete circle, pivoting neatly on its single front wheel. The policemen didn't mind and the pedestrians who were hit only laughed indulgently because they thought we were just two little boys out playing with a new toy.

HUMAN FACE

WATCHING MR. BOOTHE draw cartoons of prominent people on scraps of cardboard to be reproduced in The Province, one realizes how essentially ugly is the human face. But Mr. Boothe likes them that way. He says good-looking men and women are hard to draw whereas if you are ugly he can catch you perfectly. Thus he seldom finds a face, male or female, that is difficult to draw. Politicians are easiest of all to draw. Their faces have been roughened and lined, says Mr. Boothe, by years of exposure to the elements, including the sneers of electors and the smoke of hotel bedrooms where, as everyone knows, politics are played in a big way. Or so they say.

CHEER

ONE THING YOU notice about Vancouver that you haven't noticed for years. Everyone is more cheerful. Things, they say, are definitely improving. I don't know anything about that, but I hear it on all sides. A year ago when one came over here on a grey autumn day the gloom was thicker than a False Creek fog. Newspapermen used to sit up and sip beer and bet on the date of the revolution and with every slip it would be nearer. Now they are willing to admit that it may not occur until next spring some time. My friend Percy even admitted to me in confidence that the economic system of our civilization might survive until midsummer. Oh, Vancouver is feeling fine. I wish I were in Victoria again.

THANKS TO DR. LENNOX

To the Editor:—We desire to express, through the medium of your paper, our grateful thanks to Dr. Lennox who has very kindly provided us with a radio, and other things such as cards, an magazine. GENTRUDE STEIN

To the Editor:—A fair correspondent, in your issue of the 23rd instant, metaphorically placed your erudite and dashing columnist, Bruce Hutchison, across her knees and gave him a gentle spanking for his double-barrelled temerity in criticizing Gertrude Stein's repetitious prose and paying tribute to the business acumen associated with William Shakespeare's art.

I am inclined to agree with Bruce as to the asperin-producing qualities of Miss Stein's literary style no less than with his remarks concerning the illustrious Bard of Avon. (This, of course, will be a matter of great consolation to him and deep chagrin to your correspondent.)

However, in a weary world, harassed by alarms and excursions of one sort and another, one "views with alarm" this miniature sex-war occurring within the placid boundaries of Victoria. Before the situation gets entirely out of hand I feel impelled

VICTORIA WEST FORUM RESUMES

Programme Widened to Include Social Hour.

The Victoria West Community Forum will function again this year—the third successive year—and will be held as usual in the social hall of the Victoria West United Church.

For the improvement of the forum two changes from former years have been introduced.

Wednesday has been adopted as the day of meeting instead of Thursday as formerly. Wednesday having been found the more suitable day for most people.

The other change has to do with the programme itself, the scope of which has been widened to include a social hour with musical numbers at the conclusion of each forum meeting.

Arrangements have been made for the serving of refreshments each evening by the various organizations of the church. Community singing may also be a feature if time permits.

The same arrangements as heretofore with regard to discussion will still apply. No one shall speak longer than three minutes until all those present have had an opportunity to express themselves. Rev. W. B. Brown will have charge of the meetings.

The forum will open the first Wednesday in November with Miss Margaret Clay, B.A., librarian at the Victoria Public Library, as speaker. She will have for her subject, "The Present Trends in Fiction."

The Victoria West United Church Young People's Society will provide the social hour for this meeting.

All future forum meetings will be held on the second and fourth Wednesday of each month.

FINAL COUNT STARTS HERE

Election Ballot Boxes Opened at 10 o'Clock and Official Tally Proceeds

The official tally of votes cast in Victoria in the recent federal election commenced at 10 o'clock this morning under the supervision of Sydney Child, returning officer.

Mr. Child said he expected the count would be completed some time to-morrow.

Checking of the votes actually cast in the city is a comparatively quick job. It simply involves the recounting of statements put into the ballot boxes on election night by the deputy returning officers showing the result of their count. The actual ballots are not counted again.

The heavy work comes in counting the "absentee" vote. Mr. Child has forty separate packages of absentee votes. Each vote is accompanied by an affidavit which must be checked with the voters' list to make sure the person was entitled to cast a vote for the Victoria poll and that no duplicates occurred. A full statement must then be made out by the returning officer, incurring much detail work.

BUSINESS SHOWS UPWARD SWING

Associated Press
New York, Oct. 25.—Statistics of the week provided widespread evidence that the business pendulum is swinging to new high levels along the recovery arc.

Electric power production reached another record high. The movement of freight swelled to the highest level since this month four years ago, when the pendulum was beginning its most rapid downward swing.

Recovery still is most pronounced in consumers' goods, with such lines as cigarette, rayon and wool consumption reaching post-war records this year. But the pronounced stirrings in buildings, heavy machinery and other durable goods industries suggest to many analysts that a new and more important phase of the recovery cycle may be starting.

The Associated Press seasonally adjusted weekly index of industrial activity, as computed to-day, approximated the recovery peak reached last February. But all factors in the index were well ahead of that time, save automobile and steel production.

Retail and wholesale trade have been expanding rapidly, since a some-Vancouver, Oct. 25.—Work has started on construction of a $50,000 transmission line between the Burnaby and Hornby-Payne substations of the British Columbia Electric Railway Co. It is announced. The line will make power from the Burnaby plant available at the Hornby-Payne substation and thence to North Vancouver and Main Street.

AGAIN HEADS DRAMA GROUP

Major Bullock-Webster Re-elected B.C. Festival President By Acclamation

Major L. Bullock-Webster was returned by acclamation as president of the British Columbia Drama Festival Association at the annual meeting here this week.

Associated with him have been the following officers, who were re-elected: H. E. Potts, vice-president; Roy Goldfinch, honorary secretary, and Harold G. Hinton, honorary treasurer.

Major Bullock-Webster in his presidential report drew attention to the representative character of the association. He heads throughout the province and emphasized the unequalled success that marked the last Provincial Drama Festival.

"It had more entries than any other provincial festival in the Dominion and more drama groups supporting it," said Major Bullock-Webster. "Since then we have grown. We had last year sixty-four Little Theatre and other drama groups affiliated with us. More have joined us since. Twenty-two groups entered the festival last spring and twenty-nine plays were produced. The present indications are that there will be even more in the forthcoming festival."

Major Bullock-Webster said the drama award of the organization is now recognized from coast to coast. In proof of this he produced and read newspaper clippings from across Canada commending the association. He announced it was proposed to offer in 1936 new prizes in addition to the cups already up for competition.

These prizes were to be offered for: 1. The best presentation of a one-act play by any group from the mainland. 2. For the best presentation by any group from the mainland, outside Greater Victoria and Nanaimo. 3. For the best individual performer from the mainland. 4. For the best mainland presentation in the junior section. 5. For the best child actor from the mainland. Also, cups for island teams outside Greater Victoria and Nanaimo.

Major Bullock-Webster also made reference to the association's efforts to gain recognition of the drama in the schools of the province. He told of how since the association had embarked on this campaign, the Kilmarnock and senior high schools had embraced the study, and he believed it would not be long before all schools would be recognizing the drama as a really worth while subject for study.

It was explained by Major Bullock-Webster that the executive members have yet to be appointed. These will be one from each Little Theatre group. The executive constituted of these representatives and the elected officers will evaluate each play submitted and pass upon its suitability, and will each year publish the rules governing the entry of plays in the festival.

The BLUE DOOR

Rachel Mack © 1935 NEA Service, Inc.

Ruth was relieved that they did not pause to see how the boy was, for she suspected, and rightly, that here was someone Elaine Chalmers was supposed to remember. "Peter Ashton," explained John, avoiding an ice cream truck by a hair's breadth, "he and his sister used to play in your backyard when you visited here. They sold their old home and moved out on the Heights a couple of years ago. Alice goes to Mount Holyoke. Peter's about to be a senior at Yale."

"Think of that!" remarked Ruth, pottily. "All grown up."

"Penny thing," John said. "Just last summer Pete and I were laughing about the day you and Alice dressed up in some old finery you found in a trunk and Pete and I yanked your trains off. We were fastening them to the flagpole out the third story when Penny caught us and sent us home."

"Served you right!" said Ruth, sternly. She must make up some plausible excuse for not seeing Pete and Alice Ashton. "Especially Alice," she thought in a panic. "She'd know me for a fraud in two seconds." She said to John, to divert him, "How far is it to this Cleveland town?"

"Don't be uppity," John answered, "just because you're from New York. Cleveland's got a million people in it, most of 'em good-looking. It's got some good places to eat, too. We'll find one."

The restaurant that he chose looked like a provincial French village. There was an ice-flooded in the middle of the room floor from which pretty waitresses in peasant dresses fetched butter. There was a three-piece orchestra—a piano and two violins—while played remarkably good music. Victor Herbert, Rombert, Jerome Kern, Primi, and even Strauss. The table linen was gay and coarse. The food delicious. John ordered a bottle of the right wine, and Ruth, not being used to it, became very gay and nubile of tongue.

John said teasingly, "I've have thought Elaine Chalmers was a cock-tail girl. Imagine you getting higher than a kite on two little glasses of wine!"

"Maybe I'm just pretending it's wine," Ruth replied. "Maybe it's because with you that makes me this way."

He leaned across the table and looked at her very hard. "If you say things like that," he said, "you've got to mean them. I won't be string."

Ruth thought, "If I were Elaine I could tell him that I do mean them. If I were even myself, Ruth Woodson, I could tell him. But I'm just a phantom. I'm the body and brain of one girl, shamelessly wearing another girl's name." She would not answer the look in his eyes.

After they had agreed upon a place to meet, he left her. Ruth saw his tall, erect frame disappear in the crowd and she had a swift, sharp taste of how it would be with her when she had seen him for the last time.

She had the afternoon to kill, so she "did" the stores thoroughly. She chose the motion picture she would have liked to see and studied the advertisements in the outer lobby, so she could pretend to have seen it. Then, she went to purchase a gift for Bertha Gibbs.

She shopped diligently through the five-and-ten. When you have just two nickels and one copper cent in the whole world, you do not spend them without thought. You consider a hundred things they might buy. In the end, Ruth chose a string of glass beads, knowing that Penny would think them a crystal necklace from a department store. Thus the girl she was impersonating would not be made to appear small and stingy.

It was a queer feeling, paying out the dime and the cent, because it left her purse quite empty. . . . The bus driver had said to her, "Gimmie your dollar. Keep the seven cents!" It was his way of telling her a girl should never be without the price of a phone call or a street car ticket. . . . But now the deed was done. Ruth was utterly penniless.

CHAPTER XVII

As she walked through the late afternoon shopping crowds to meet John, Ruth was struck with an idea so arresting that it staggered her. The idea was simply this: that she should not meet him at all; that she should lose herself in Cleveland, the city which had been her objective, and thus solve the Gordian knot of her entanglements by cutting it with one quick stroke.

For a moment or two it seemed the only thing to do. It was a practical plan. Here she was in a large, busy city where jobs were probably available, and she was spared that dreaded ordeal of hitch-hiking from Worthville. She no longer considered the pain of separation from John McNeill. That lay ahead of her, anyway. Perhaps the sooner over, the better. Yes, better get it over with quickly and save herself the misery of dreading it day by day, as she was already beginning to do.

Then, just as she had decided on her course, there came the realization that it would not work at all! She was Elaine Chalmers to John McNeill and Bertha Gibbs, and if she should stage a disappearance this evening the entire detective force of Cleveland would be working on the case before midnight.

"And telegrams would be sent to Elaine's mother," she thought in consternation, "scaring her out of her wits! There'd be scandal and headlines, of course. First, they'd say 'Heiress Disappears While on Visit to Mother's Old Home.' Then, in a later edition, 'Heiress Found Safe at College. Unknown Girl Impersonating Her Sought!'"

"I must have been crazy to think of such a thing," Ruth marvelled aloud. Suddenly she was happy again because her noble conduct was out of the question, and because she was going to meet John presently and drive back to Worthville with him. "I must have been absolutely cuckoo!" She said the words clearly and blithely, and an impudent youth with freckles and a turned-up nose, jostling beside her in the crowd, said, "Talking to yourself, sister, or me?"

"To myself," Ruth replied, and laughed. "To the world!" And then she saw John at the hotel entrance, waiting for her, scanning the crowds a bit anxiously. Nothing else mattered.

He said, "We'll have dinner here and drive home afterward. There's a good orchestra—"

The following day John McNeill went to Pittsburgh on business, to be gone for an indefinite two days. You'll be here when I get back," he asked Ruth definitely, standing in the Hunter's hallway while his car motor ran outside.

"I'll be here," Ruth answered. It was a pledge.

He drove away, but she did not feel unhappy or restless because of it. He was coming back, and she would be there.

She said to Bertha Gibbs after lunch, "I'm going to clean the library. Penny, I'm going to wipe down the shelves and dust every book."

"Leave the library be, Miss Elaine," replied Penny. "Dust don't matter. Dust is good for books."

Ruth disagreed. "It's anything but good for books. It ruins them. There's some leather-bound volumes in there that are simply going to pieces from neglect. Let me have a bucket of warm water and some cloths and soap. I could use a stepladder, too, if you have one."

Penny provided the equipment, grumbling and muttering to herself. Ruth put on an apron, rolled up her sleeves and started. She worked all afternoon without losing enthusiasm; she loved books and had never had the privilege of losing herself in a private library before. She dusted all the volumes and replaced them on the "dust" vacant shelves. On the whole, she did not alter the arrangement of the books. They seemed well placed. Heavy reference books occupied the lower shelves; smaller volumes graduated toward the top.

MARK GOLDEN WEDDING DAY

Mr. and Mrs. Luther S. Manzer Married Fifty Years Yesterday

Mr. and Mrs. Luther S. Manzer celebrated their golden wedding yesterday afternoon at their home, 1480 Dallas Road, when about eighty guests called to tender felicitations and good wishes on the happy occasion.

Masses of chrysanthemums and roses were received by the venerable couple, together with many other gifts and messages from friends far and near. Their daughter, Mrs. H. R. Roach, and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Roy Manzer, assisted them in receiving and in serving tea from the beautifully appointed table, which was centred with the wedding cake, surrounded by gold-colored roses.

In the evening a family dinner was held, attended by their sons and daughter and members of their families.

Belonging to the honored United Empire Loyalist stock in New Brunswick, Mr. and Mrs. Manzer were married in the city of Fredericton in 1865. After continuing to live in their native province for some years longer, Mr. and Mrs. Manzer were attracted to western Canada, coming to what was then the District of Assiniboine in 1891.

There they engaged in ranching in the rich territory surrounding Maple Creek, where they continued to reside until retiring from active life, when they made their home for a time in Medicine Hat.

In 1920 they were attracted to Victoria and have made their home here ever since. The surviving members of their family are all living in Victoria and its environs. Roy Manzer, of the legal firm of Helsterman & Manzer, who resides at 2465 Florence Street, is a son; while a second son, A. Reginald Manzer, is engaged in ranching at Millstream. The only surviving daughter, Mrs. H. R. Roach, resides at 1270 Faithful Street. A second daughter, Mrs. French, met an untimely death in an automobile accident in St. Paul, Minn., last August. Her daughter, Charlotte French, resides with her grandparents in Victoria.

DIROM-MEWAN

United Church, Duncan, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, when Agnes Stewart, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McEwan, Duncan, was united in marriage to Gavin Andrew Dirom, third son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dirom, Duncan, Rev. W. P. Burns officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Mr. T. McEwan, looked lovely in a gown of white angelina lace modelled on medieval lines, with a train. Her silk tulle veil was arranged in coronet fashion, and beneath a small cap, and was loaned by her sister-in-law, Mrs. T. M. McEwan. She carried a shower bouquet of Adoration roses, white carnations and lilies of the valley.

Her bridesmaids were Miss Eleanor Walton of Victoria, and Miss Olive of pale blue opera velvet, with bouquets of pink carnations, and the bridesmaids in pale pink opera velvet with bouquets of pale pink carnations and white Michaelmas daisies. Both wore black velvet turbans and short veils.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. McEwan, Bell McEwan Road, where Mrs. McEwan received the guests, wearing a smart dress of blackberry triple sheer crepe, with black accessories. She was assisted by Mrs. A. Dirom, groomed in blue crepe with blue accessories.

The supper table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake with tall ivory tapers in silver sconces and silver vases of chrysanthemums and dahlias.

Mr. and Mrs. Greenan left for a honeymoon trip up the island, the bride travelling in a smart brown sports suit with hat and accessories to match. On their return they will reside in Vancouver.

Bastin officiated in marriage Helen Elizabeth, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. McKenzie of Duncan, and Mr. John Greenan, son of Mr. J. Greenan and the late Mrs. J. Greenan of Vancouver. Autumn flowers and foliage arranged by girl friends of the bride, decorated the church.

Entering the church with her father, the bride wore a rustbrown crepe frock trimmed with dark brown, the long skirt flaring to a train, and the bodice made with long sleeves and a cowl neckline. She wore a matching brown felt hat and a corsage bouquet of Ophelia roses and ferns.

McKenzie, on East Saanich Road, where the bride and groom received the felicitations of their friends standing before the large bow window, which was banked with autumn flowers and greenery. The bride's mother, Mrs. H. W. McKenzie, assisted in receiving in a becoming gown of black silk crepe, black hat to match, and a corsage bouquet of roses.

BRITISH COUNCIL WOMEN TO MEET

Canadian Press
London, Oct. 25.—The National Council of Women of Great Britain, which represents more than 2,000,000 votes through its 133 associated organizations and its eighty-five branches, holds a forty-sixth annual conference in Leicester this week.

An attendance of more than 800 delegates is expected under the presidency of the Dowager Lady Nuburnhome.

Among the visitors will be Mrs. de Villiers, the adviser to the South African delegation to the International Council of Women of South Africa, and Mrs. Tawse-Jolliffe of Southern Rhodesia.

The majority of the resolutions, which have been selected by ballot, deal with subjects with which women have a deep concern. The problem of universal maternity rest, attention, and other resolutions dealing with maternal health, ante-natal care, training in mothercraft and nursery schools are being sent forward.

The council will also have to declare its policy on the raising of the age of consent, through a resolution proposed by the London branch. The question of giving sex instruction and the recommendation of the abolition of capital punishment for an experimental period of five years will also be debated. If time permits.

At the public meetings Mrs. Walter Elliot and Sir Arnold Wilson are speaking on "Youth and the Land" and "Youth and the Town" respectively. Mrs. Raphael on "Science in the Home," and Miss Elizabeth Scott on "Design for the Home."

AS A CEREAL OR IN COOKING

it's FINE either way!

It's so handy to have a package of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the kitchen. Serve it as a cereal. Use it also as a wholesome ingredient in your muffins, breads, omelets, waffles, etc.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" to aid regular habits. ALL-BRAN is also rich in vitamin B, as well as iron, an element of the blood.

Two tablespoons daily will correct common constipation, due to insufficient bulk in the diet. In severe cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

The "bulk" of ALL-BRAN does not break down during digestion as does that of leafy vegetables, and is therefore more effective for furnishing the needed "bulk." It is a delicious laxative food... far better than patent medicines.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER FLORES

BABY'S CHOKING MAY BE CAUSED BY THYROID GLAND

The mother can deal with the child who refuses food, or with the one who eats too voraciously, but she is helpless before the child who accepts thick foods and then chokes and struggles in his effort to swallow them. The result of such repeated happenings is that the mother tries to feed thin, and strained foods until the child may be eating at three years of age as if he were a six months' old baby.

The reason for this unhappy interruption to eating is not always easy to find. It has been found that children suffering from enlarged thyroid glands are affected not only in their breathing but in their swallowing.

MOTHER MAY BE CAUSE

Pressure of this overlarge gland may give rise to the choking. Since the size of the gland is measurable, it is wise when choking is persistent to have an X-ray photograph made of this gland in the upper chest.

One may find the child choking as one of many expressions of extreme nervousness. The mother who hovers over her infant, showing all too plainly her distress and worry when the baby chokes, will cause him to fear this result to the point of provoking it. Even so simple a matter as swallowing can be affected by the near hysteria of a mother who acts as if each bite might go down wrong.

CAUSES OF CHOKING

In such cases the solution lies in allowing the child to eat by himself and manipulate his food in his own way. If the child does choke the happenings should be treated as of no consequence. A few brisk pats on the back, a drink of water and then food should be offered again.

Those children who from birth are administered to by nurses or mothers, and who in consequence get little exercise, may choke as one evidence of an under-developed muscular system. Particularly are fat, inactive children liable to this disturbance at mealtimes.

WAYS TO HELP CHILD

We offer a leaflet, "How to Help the Child Who Chokes on Thick Food," which may be had for a self-addressed and three-cent stamped envelope sent to Myrtle Meyer Flores of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

But long before this point is reached the parent should have taken care to introduce thick foods to the small baby, in such a way as to promote quick swallowing. This can best be managed by tipping the baby's head back slightly, offering a small spoonful on the back of the tongue and letting the pressure upon this area promote a quick involuntary swallow.

LOCAL DEAF FORM CLUB

Miss Kate Gaudin President of New Hard of Hearing Branch

National Hearing Week, that is being observed both in Canada and the United States this week, was marked in Victoria on Wednesday evening by the formation of an organization that will bind together in a spirit of fraternity and unity all those who are afflicted with a loss of hearing.

Miss Kate Gaudin, who, assisted by T. Tye, was instrumental in calling the meeting, was elected president of the new organization that will be known as the Victoria Club for the Hard of Hearing. Other officers chosen to act temporarily were Fred W. McKee, treasurer; H. N. Gahan, secretary; and Mrs. B. C. Combe, Mrs. C. Swaine, Mrs. Washington, Rev. Canon H. W. G. Stocken, H. G. Hinton and P. W. McKee, directors.

Approximately fifty people were present at the meeting held at the home of Miss Gaudin, Fort Street, the organization starting off with a goodly membership, indicating the interest in the undertaking as well as the need for such an organization.

AIMS OF CLUB

In the proposed constitution of the club the aims were stated as follows: To aid and ameliorate the social, educational and industrial conditions of the hard of hearing; to promote the art and practice of lip-reading or speech-reading; to promote social intercourse among its members; to encourage and aid all scientifically approved efforts for the prevention of deafness and the conservation of hearing; to assist the hard of hearing to secure and retain employment when times improve; to maintain headquarters for the business of the club and for the convenience of its members, and to encourage and carry on any other activities that may be for the benefit and interest of the hard of hearing and for the deaf.

Canon H. W. G. Stocken, the chairman, pointed out that with the formation of the club a spirit of cheerfulness and comradeship would be created that would eliminate some of the isolation surrounding the hard of hearing at present-day gatherings.

On taking the chair after her appointment as president, Miss Gaudin told of enthusiastic letters received from the Vancouver, Winnipeg, Seattle and Pasadena leagues and their officers of assistance in forming a club in Victoria. She made an urgent appeal for all Victorians interested in the work to join the club, whether able or unable to hear.

"We want money. We want talent. We want everything to enable us to start to carry on our work," Miss Gaudin said.

APPEAL FOR CO-OPERATION

In endeavoring to make the life of the deafened person a little easier and brighter, Miss Gaudin appealed for the co-operation of those with whom the deaf come in contact, both in private and business life. "Those who hear should speak distinctly, should not shout, point or poke and should speak in a clear moderate tone, looking at the person to whom they are speaking. Do not show impatience or frown if asked to repeat. Do so in an even lower and slower tone," she said.

It was decided at the meeting that members should meet each Wednesday evening. At the invitation of Mrs. B. C. Combe, members were asked to meet on Wednesday evening, Nov. 1, at her home, 1079 Verrinder Avenue. Unless announced to the contrary, the regular meetings will be held at the home of Miss Gaudin, Fort Street.

Interest in this new club was evinced by the attendance of Victorians ranging from young people to one who stated his age as eighty-five years. The difficulties of conducting a meeting for the hard of hearing was overcome by the use of a blackboard, on which was written the gist of the proceedings.

The initial meeting was brought to a close by the serving of refreshments by the hostess, assisted by her niece, Mrs. Robert Harvey.

BABY BORN AT BOTTOM OF WELL

Canadian Press

Sanford, N.C., Oct. 25.—The seven-pound son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Jordan was healthy and happy today—as was his mother—even if he was born at the bottom of a well.

Mrs. Jordan of Near Gulf went to a well at her home Tuesday to draw a bucket of water. She became faint and toppled over, falling down the shaft into several feet of water. Her husband, attracted by cries, rushed to the well and pulled up the mother, who was holding a newly-born son.

TREASURE HUNT TO AID HOSPITAL

Already the Halloween treasure hunt, being sponsored by the Junior Auxiliary of St. Joseph's Hospital, is promising to be most popular. Tickets have been distributed and the first clues are being sold rapidly.

Miss Rhoda Goward, the president, is general convener, assisted by Miss Catherine O'Brien and Miss Muriel Richards. Miss Nan Eve, convener of refreshments, has the assistance of Miss Alice Balcer and Miss Nan Rutton.

Mrs. J. S. C. Frazer has offered her home at 428 St. Charles Street for the starting of the hunt, which will terminate at 11 o'clock at night by the serving of refreshments.

Persons taking part in the hunt are asked to wear old clothes and bring flashlights, pencils and paper. Automobiles will be limited to four persons, there being four prizes for competition. If there are six persons in the winning car a draw will be taken.

Tickets may be obtained from members of the auxiliary by telephoning Miss Goward at G 3156.

Children's Hour To Be Presented

The Music Lady, the Puppeteer and the Teller of Tales will present a "Children's Hour" at St. Christopher's School, Newport Avenue, on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when it is hoped interested parents, teachers and children from pre-school age to seven or eight will attend.

The Music Lady is Miss Audrey Wood; the Puppeteer, Miss Pauline Rooker; and the Teller of Tales is Miss Dorothy Y. Orlington.

This initial programme, for which no admission is to be charged, will be linked about the "Just So" Stories of Kipling. The children will play a singing game, hear some of Edward German's beautiful settings to the tall-tales of "The Elephant's Child" and "How the Camel Got Its Hump," and will see a simple puppet show, as well as hear the tales themselves.

If the interest taken in this first programme warrants continuing with the venture, subsequent programmes will be built around the music written by standard composers of various countries, either for puppets or definitely for children.

REMEMBER EARLY TRICKS

Simple Deduction Made From First Two Rounds Permits Declarer to Execute End Play

By WM. E. McKENNEY
Everyone who writes on bridge explains squeeze, coup and end plays, but to the average player these are nothing but bridge terms.

Do you know why you miss the fun of executing the squeeze or end play? It is because you do not pay attention to the cards played in the early rounds.

Some players say, "I cannot count anything but the trump." Well, even this type of player should be able to remember a high card held by an opponent.

To-day's hand entails nothing more than gathering the inference that West holds the queen of hearts and then, by remembering this late on, declarer is able to make an end play which gives him his contract.

THE HIDDING
With regard to the bidding, it is true that North's response of one no trump is rather weak, but on the type of hand, if you are going to give your partner a chance bid, do not support with only three trumps.

It is better to bid the no trump first. Then if he rebids his suit you can support with three trumps.

THE PLAY
West's opening lead against the four-spade contract was the four of

Today's Contract Problem

South has the contract for four spades. The opening heart lead is won with the ace. There are several lines of play open to declarer, only one of which, however, will produce game. Which would you select?

hearts, East winning with the ace and returning the eight spot. Now the careless player would finesse the jack, but let us stop and think for a moment.

West opened a heart. Generally a player opens from a suit in which he holds some high card, so the first thought is that West must hold the queen, especially when East plays the ace and returns the eight spot.

Therefore, declarer should play the king on the second heart lead. Two rounds of trump are taken. When East's queen drops, dummy is entered by playing a small spade to the ten. A small diamond is led, declarer finessing the jack. The king of diamonds is cashed and now a small diamond played, in the hope that the suit will break. However, West shows out, discarding a club. This trick is won in dummy with the ace.

A small diamond is returned and trumped with the jack of spades, West discarding another club.

Now all declarer has to do is throw West into the lead with the queen of hearts, and all he can do is cash his ace of clubs and concede the rest of the tricks to declarer.

Your Liver Can Take Tough Treatment

Largest Organ in Body "Built" to Take Punishment; Changes Food Elements From Bowels Into Tissue-building Materials

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

The liver is the largest organ in the body. It weighs three or four pounds and is really the factory in which a good deal of the most important chemistry of the body is carried out.

Blood vessels come into the liver bringing materials from the bowels, which the liver then works over into useful substances. One of the main purposes of the liver is to remove from the body a good deal of poisonous material. It is not only useful in that way, however, but also in developing sugar materials which are used by the body in its work.

Your gallbladder is situated just under cover of the lower border of your liver. The gallbladder is not a very big organ. It holds one or two ounces of bile.

The liver forms the bile and passes a good deal of it into the intestines, but some of it is stored in the gallbladder.

The bile is formed continuously, but it comes in great spurts, usually after eating. Your body forms about a pint, but may form as much as a quart, of bile in twenty-four hours.

One of the most serious diseases that can affect the liver is cirrhosis, or hardening. This comes from various types of poisoning, including alcoholic poisoning.

The most serious acute disease that can occur in the liver is development of an abscess either from ordinary bacteria or from such organisms as cause dysentery. The amebic abscess of the liver is associated with amebic dysentery.

Once it was thought that most of the common illnesses of mankind were due to deficient functioning of the liver. Liver pills were consumed in great amounts, the difficulty being, however, not with the liver, but with action of the intestines.

Cronic constipation really is responsible for the condition commonly called biliousness. Overwork, high tension, chronic worry, and wrong habits of eating produce the condition, and then the liver is blamed for it.

Most liver pills are merely laxative or cathartic pills which speeded up the action of the bowels.

Fortunately for mankind, the human body is built with factors of such conditions promptly, because progressive damage of the liver is certain to result in death.

It is well, however, to take care of such conditions promptly, because progressive damage of the liver is certain to result in death.

REPULSED WIFE SEEKS DIVORCE

Charging that her husband repulsed her advances after their marriage, Mrs. Edith June Salade (above) sought a divorce in Camden, N.J., from W. U. Salade, former chauffeur and confidential agent of Pierre S. DuPont. Salade accused her of being a "gold-digger," nagging him about his property on their honeymoon.

Bazarr Was Success—The afternoon and evening card party, tea and sale of home cooking held under the auspices of St. Vincent de Paul Society was an unqualified success and the funds of the association will materially benefit therefrom. The convener, Miss H. O'Brien, and officers of the society wish to thank all the friends who came in such numbers during the afternoon and evening in aid of so deserving a cause. The sale of home cooking was under the convener'ship of Mrs. J. D. Kinsinger, assisted by Mrs. J. Thompson and Mrs. Bingham. The Children of Mary sponsored the candy booth, and pupils of St. Ann's Academy acted as servers of the refreshments, most capably convened by Mrs. J. E. Houligan, assisted by Mrs. W. Mulachy and Mrs. Theriault. Winners of the prizes were as follows: Five hundred, Mr. and Mrs. Weydant; contract, Mrs. Warner and Mrs. McManus; auction, Mrs. J. D. Kinsinger and Rev. Father Querkus. Mrs. Pagan, Langford, won the half ton of coal. During the serving of supper Mr. Lavery gave great pleasure with musical selections.

OVERCOME BY GAS

Vancouver, Oct. 25 (Canadian Press)—Victim of accidental asphyxiation, Ernest Kerr, twenty-two, was reported recovering in St. Paul's Hospital today. The young man was discovered in the kitchen of his home, overcome by gas fumes from a water heater, the jet of which had been opened accidentally.

CLIPPER BACK IN CALIFORNIA

Mail From Guam Delivered When Big Flying Boat Reaches Alameda

Alameda, Calif., Oct. 25.—Air mail from Guam, island outpost of the Orient, was delivered in America for the first time yesterday when the Pan-American Airways' clipper plane alighted here from its latest pioneering flight.

The big flying boat, blazing the way for regular mail and passenger service to Honolulu, Guam, Manila and China, skimmed gracefully down to the water of its San Francisco Bay base at 11:01 a.m. Pacific Standard Time.

Mails carried by the clipper plane, which completed the 2,400-mile Honolulu hop of its return flight from Guam in seventeen hours and thirty minutes, was under a special permit for souvenir purposes.

A broken high-pressure cylinder caused the break-down. Capt. Ono and a crew of nineteen Japanese officers and men are taking the vessel across the Pacific.

Seattle Ace Rider Captures Motorcycle Hillclimb Feature

Louie Kaelin In Great Display to Win Island Title

Roars Up Treacherous Incline at Mt. Douglas in Eight Seconds; Big Crowd

Espley-Worswick Other Winners

Manoeuvring his machine in grand style, Louie Kaelin, Seattle motorcycle ace, raced up the steep incline in eight seconds flat, to capture the F. W. Francis Challenge Trophy, symbolic of the Vancouver Island championship, on his Indian, to feature the Victoria Motorcycle Club's annual hill climb yesterday afternoon, at Mount Douglas.

The fine, warm, summerlike weather drew a crowd of over 2,000, which took keen delight in watching the competitors ride their bucking machines up the steep incline, which was in ideal condition.

A number of the starters were scratched due to defunct motors, but of those taking part some fine competition was displayed. At the finish of the programme the hill looked as though it had just been freshly ploughed.

Kaelin's closest rival was Ray Douglas, Duncan, who made the 224-foot course in eight and one-fifth seconds on both attempts. He was riding a Harley-Davidson. Bill Espley took third-place honors with his Ariel four.

The Seattle star, in an effort to better his time, tried again at the end of the programme, but fell down and made it in nine and one-fifth seconds. Holding to the centre of the incline, Espley flashed up the slope in six and two-fifths seconds on his Ariel four to win the Paul Girardin trophy open for any size machine belonging to members of the Victoria Motorcycle Club. Espley's time was the fastest recorded of the events, but, according to officials, it was not known whether he had beaten a record or not, due to variation in the length of the course over last year. Frank Thomas set a new record last year and won the island championship when he zoomed up the hill in

Yankees-Oakland Renew Agreement

Oakland, Oct. 25.—A working agreement between the New York Yankees and the Oakland baseball club whereby the American League team farms its young players to the Coast League outfit, has been renewed for the 1936 season, it was announced today. The Yankees will continue to have first call on promising Oakland players.

six and one-fifth seconds. Reg Shanks took second-place honors in this event in six and four-fifths seconds, while Frank Baylis secured the third place in seven and one-half seconds.

WORSWICK WINNER

Jimmy Worswick, local speed artist, made an eight seconds flat run to win the A.M.A. Challenge Trophy, in the novice event, open to members of the club with forty-five cubic-inch motors. He was riding an Indian and in winning the event graduated from the novice class. George Weiburn garnered second prize with a time of nine and three-fifths seconds, while Johnny Hutchinson was third in ten seconds flat.

The boys handled their machines well, there being only one instance where a machine got out of hand. Brian Carmichael, in his final attempt in the main event, was just about to the top when his machine hit a rut and took an about turn down the hill, but the rider finally brought it to rest against the tree with the electric timer on it, giving Gary Williams, son of Reg Williams, official referee, a little shaking up. The programme was well handled by the following able officials: Referee, Reg Williams; starters, J. Haggart and E. Fullerton; announcer, Johnny Norrington; recorders, Bob Smith and E. Seeshusen; tape men, J. Rawnsley and J. Davies; timers, Able West, J. Norrington and H. Francis; clerks of course, Dan Matheson and B. Stoker.

The day's programme was brought to a successful close with a well-attended dance in the evening in the Foresters' Hall, where Len Acres' orchestra supplied the music. Louie Kaelin was presented with his trophy during the evening by Cecil Frampton, president of the Victoria Motorcycle Club.

BEST HEAVER IN CANADIAN FOOTBALL

Hugh Marks of Toronto Varsity is rated as the best forward passer in Canadian football. He is shown here with a few shots of how he does it. On the top he gives a good idea of the size of his hands, not to mention his good looks. Left and below we see him all set to let one fly to one of his teammates, while on the left his wrist and grip action is displayed. Top is the manner he grips the ball when fading back for a toss. The other two shots are different angles he holds the ball when the arm action begins. Both grips show his little finger always on the laces.

Soccer Leaders Will Face Tests

Three Top Elevens in English League Meet Stiff Opposition To-morrow; Arsenal Will Engage Preston North End; Scottish Leaders Away From Home

London, Oct. 25.—Tough struggles are in prospect for leaders of the English Football League to-morrow, but Huddersfield Town, astride the top rung of the ladder, appears to have the best chance of emerging victorious, and in that event may increase its margin over Sunderland and Derby County.

Sunderland play Sheffield Wednesday at Roker Park, while Derby County visit Stoke City. The English cupholders can be expected to put up a hard battle at Sunderland. Derby County will have to play at its best to hold the fifth-place Stoke eleven.

Holder of fourth place in the table, Middlesbrough, goes to Grimsby, where the fishermen will fight desperately to escape from the league cellar. Preston North End goes to Highbury, confident of at least sharing the points with the Arsenal.

Outstanding among second division games is the tilt between Leicester City and Tottenham Hotspurs on the former's ground. The Hotspurs ousted Leicester from the division leadership last Saturday, and it will be a nip and tuck affair until the last kick of the game.

Glasgow, Oct. 25.—Aberdeen, Celtic and Rangers, foremost Scottish football clubs, are all away from home this week-end, and if the showing of their opponents in the league table means anything it would not be surprising if the Dons and Rangers improve their positions at the expense of Celtic.

A few seasons ago one of the showiest clubs north of the Tweed, Kilmarnock has fallen on evil days and should be easy prey for the league-leading Aberdeen side. Clyde, the tallender, cannot hope to do much against the Rangers.

But it will be a different story at Motherwell, where Celtic, runner-up, is the guest. The Fir Park squad can be depended upon to make the Celts go all out for victory. Hamilton Academicals play Queen of the South at Dumfries and Hearts are at home to Albion Rovers.

St. Mirren's bad lapse against Morton last Saturday leaves the Paisley outfit with only a one-point lead over Falkirk in the second divi-

Led by Bill Robertson and Frank Fisher, Victoria Amateur Swimming Club polo players will meet the combined forces of the Y.M.C.A. and the Pacific Club at the Crystal Garden this evening at 9 o'clock.

The game, an exhibition fixture, will be a forerunner to a match against the Navy within the next week or two.

The teams for the game this evening follow: V.A.S.C.—Bill Robertson, George Weiburn, Bobby Moss, Bob O'Neill, Frank Fisher, Colin McFadyen and Bob Shade.

Y.M.C.A.—Pacific Club—Frank Hyslop, Bert Buller, Bobby Mathewson, Chris McRae, Bob Smith, Rev Honor and Vic Little.

TO ENFORCE WEIGHT RULE

Intermediate Ruggerers Must Be 160 Pounds Or Under; Five Games Billed

Enforcement of rules governing weight qualifications for the intermediate league was indicated in a statement from J. B. Acland, head of the referees' board, with his weekly announcement of whistle tooters for to-morrow's five rugby fixtures.

"The referees taking the intermediate games have been instructed to weigh in all players on the field before the game commences. Any player exceeding 160 pounds will be ineligible for play with the intermediate league during the remainder of the season. This rule is being strictly enforced," Mr. Acland stated.

SCHEDULE TO-MORROW

Referees for the different games were set as follows:

SENIOR A

Fifth Brigade vs. Wanderers-Bays, Upper Macdonald Park field; referee, B. MacMillan.

Navy vs. Scottish, Lower Macdonald Park field; referee, A. Walls.

Wins Road Race For Third Time

Edmonton, Oct. 25.—Jack Wahlberg, Saskatoon, won the eighth annual Edmonton Bulletin Thanksgiving Day ten-mile road race yesterday in record time of 54 minutes, 47 seconds.

Wahlberg's victory was his third in succession. He captured the Bulletin Trophy outright. Tommy Aird, Edmonton Athletic Club was second and Otis Staples, University of Alberta, was third.

G. PRODGERS PASSES AWAY

Famous Hockey Player and Coach Dies as Result of Heart Attack

London, Ont., Oct. 25.—George "Goldie" Prodgers, former manager of the London Tecumsehs, International Hockey League club and well-known throughout Canada as a player and coach, died here today, victim of a heart attack.

Prodgers turned professional in 1911 with the Waterloo club of the old Trolley League. He joined the Quebec Bulldogs the next season and was on his first Stanley Cup championship team his second year in monied hockey.

The Bulldogs repeated the next year and Prodgers was lured to the Pacific Coast to play there, returning to the east in 1915-16 to help the Montreal Canadiens annex the Stanley Cup. The next fall "Goldie" enlisted with the 227th battalion and served with that unit during the duration of the Great War, playing hockey after his return.

QUEBEC TENNIS RANKINGS

Montreal, Oct. 25.—Tennis rankings of the province of Quebec, issued yesterday, placed Marcel Rainville at the top of the men and Mrs. W. T. Patrick at the head of the women.

Hay Park; referee, S. Worthington. College vs. Wanderers Whites, High School; referee, A. LeMarquand.

With the exception of the Senior B game, which is scheduled to start at 1:50 o'clock, all fixtures will begin at 3 o'clock.

Line-up of the Bays-Wanderers rugby team for to-morrow's match follows: Hartley, Symons, Osman, A. Briggs, Luttrell, McConnan, Gann, Petticrew, Tobin, F. Briggs, Moore, Burns, Usher, Harmiston and Angus.

Imperials Answer Another Challenge

Canadian Gridiron Champs Whip Balmy Beach 16 to 8 to Increase Lead in Ontario Rugby Football Union; Regina Rough Riders Left Saskatchewan Title

Toronto, Oct. 25.—It isn't as great a team, perhaps, with the old ghost, Norman Perry, on the bench instead of the backfield, but the football world had it written on the cuff to-day that Sarnia's Imperials remain the most formidable force on the Canadian gridiron until somebody comes along and proves that isn't the case in 1935.

Imperials showed a crowd of 13,000 in Toronto yesterday how potent they can be when occasion arises by defeating Balmy Beach 16 to 8 in a scheduled O.R.F.U. game. The victory left Sarnia two games ahead of Beaches in the standing.

Led by little Rocky Parsaca and the backfield Giants, Ormond Beach and Bummer Stirling, the Imperials crushed Toronto's east-end team in the fourth quarter with a field goal by Parsaca and a touchdown by Beach. They started the period a single point behind after facing a strong north wind for thirty minutes.

It was the only important Thanksgiving Day contest in the east, leaving the Intercollegiate and Big Four to put on the second show of the week Saturday. Argos entertain Montreal Wanderers and Hamilton Tigers invade Ottawa in the big four, McGill and Toronto clash at Montreal and Queen's and Western at Kingston in the intercollegiate.

Chief among these is the McGill-Toronto struggle with the college leadership at stake.

Regina, Oct. 25.—Opening up with a devastating attack, Regina's Rough Riders packed away the Saskatchewan senior rugby title yesterday with a 41 to 1 victory over University of Saskatchewan Huskies.

The Rough Rider attack was too much for the students and the Riders made thirty-one first downs in the game, flashing an aerial attack in the last half after ripping the Huskies' line in the opening two quarters. Seven touchdowns were scored.

LOCAL DISPLAY ARTISTS MEET

Sign Painters of Victoria Hold Social Meeting at Douglas Cafe

The first of a winter series of social meetings was held at the Douglas Cafe dining-room on Tuesday evening by the Victoria Sign Artists' Association.

A large attendance of members, assisting artists and guests were welcomed by William Baylis, president, of the association.

While supper was in progress,
the Misses Joyce and Fay Baylis entertained with monologues.

R. P. Plenderleith was master of ceremonies and conducted the evening's program.

R. Bullock, vice-president, proposed the toast to the King, William Baylis to the association, stressing the value of the fellowship which had been attained since its inauguration, and Fred Hobson to the secretary-treasurer,
J. C. Porteous, for his valuable aid and untiring efforts on behalf of the association.

A number of old-time favorites were rendered by Jack Miller's orchestra, the Rhythm Rascals. Among other features of the programme, Boyd McGill showed the meeting with a clever shadowgraph show; Jack Miller sang a solo, "Mother, the Queen of My Heart"; and William Harkness wowed the audience with many feats of magic.

"Believe it or Not" contest was won by J. C. Porteous, who was presented with a loving cup donated by a hard working member and admirer of the truth.

The meeting closed with community singing.

know and understand the scriptures.
These classes are open to all and are workers, and any desirous of gaining

Quintuplet Carrot And Albino Robin

A carrot with five distinct roots growing from the one stem was discovered by J. W. Mawle on the Holme Farm in Happy Valley to-day.

Mr. Mawle is always on the look out for freaks of nature. Last year he saw a snake crawling out of its skin.
He stretched the skin on a brown piece of paper and sent it to the museum.

He has also discovered an albino robin in his garden.

The carrot is the first oddity in the plant world he has come across. He feels that it should be called the Dionne carrot.

NEW DEAL FROM BOARD SOUGHT

Basketball Officials to Seek Lower Rental For High School Gym

The Victoria and District Basketball Association will seek a new deal from the Victoria School Board.

On the present rental basis on which the basketball interests secure Victoria High School gym for city league games, they have gone behind $7.65 this season to date.

Feeling they are furnishing a service to the community in providing organized sport for boys, young men and young women, the association will seek an interview with the board in the near future, at which it will ask for a reduction in rental charges.

At the board's last meeting, the trustees decided to charge fees of 65 a night for practices, $10 a night for league games and $20 a night for exhibition features.

GOING BEHIND
So far this year the association has staged five nights of league play, collected $64.85 in sales and paid out $72.50 in expenses, to sustain a net loss of $7.65. The chief expense has been the rental charge, for which a cheque of $50 was given to the board to-day.

The crowds which attend exhibition games do not turn out for league features, Jack Taylor, president of the basketballers, stated in an explanation of the small gate for the latter type of entertainment.
He foresaw serious difficulty for a reduced basketball if the charges were not reduced to give the interests promoting the game a chance to at least break even. Hopes were expressed by Mr. Taylor the board would see its way clear to make a reduction in view of the fact the league catered to the interests of the younger people, whom it kept off the streets at night, and thus forces supporting good clean sport.

FIVE INJURED IN ACCIDENTS

All in Hospital But None
Seriously Injured in Four Mishaps

Five persons are in hospital as the result of accidents on Wednesday and Thursday, according to police reports. Four were injured in traffic mishaps and one suffered a broken leg in a fall down stairs.

A. E. Fitchett, 627 Pine Street, and
R. T. McKay, 1027 Chamberlain
Street, were the most seriously hurt.
Mr. Fitchett sustained slight concussion and head injuries when he collided with a car while cycling down Haliburton Road. The car, driven by W. H. Heard, 215 Menzies Street, was proceeding north on the East Saanich Road at the time of the collision. Mr. Fitchett was removed to the Jubilee Hospital in the G. & C. ambulance.

Mr. McKay was also riding a bicycle and was in collision with a car driven along Heywood Avenue by Leonard Batchelor, 1977 Fairfield Road. The accident occurred at the intersection of Heywood Avenue and Cliphurst Street. Dr. A. E. McKicking attended
Mr. McKay in the Jubilee Hospital, where he was taken in the ambulance.

Mrs. Mary Ramsay, seventy-five, fractured her leg when she fell down basement stairs at 1024 Craigdarroch Street, on Wednesday afternoon. She was taken to the Jubilee Hospital in the police ambulance, where Dr. E.
W. Boak attended her.

TWO WOMEN HURT

Mrs. John Garff, 1015 Esquimalt
Road, and Mrs. Eva Sanders, 527
Yates Street, were both injured in an accident on the Johnston Street extension on Thursday afternoon. They were passengers with John Garff, who was driving east on Johnston Street, and was in collision with a truck driven by Donald W. Swayne, 2633
Scott Street, which was travelling west and about to turn into Songhees Road.

Both ladies suffered from cuts, bruises and shock. They were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in the C. & C. ambulance, where Dr. T. W. A.
Gray attended.

Hospital authorities to-day reported all patients were doing well and none were seriously injured.

NEW HIGH MARK IN PEN OUTPUT

Using plane transportation on his trip to the Pacific coast from Toronto,
B. C. Pennington, managing director of the Parker Fountain Pen Company
Ltd., was in the city yesterday with Mel. Fraire, western supervisor, to personally contact the business houses handling the company's product.

Speaking of his company's operations, at the Empress Hotel, Mr. Pennington said the Parker pen has achieved a new high mark, both in sales and in volume of production, during the last year. In particular, this was found in the export end of the business. He said the "United Kingdom" being one of the outstanding markets.

"Good though this year has been,
we have every prospect of far exceeding the mark set in the coming 1936 season," said Mr. Pennington.

officiated, assisted by Rev. J. S. Pat-

SEEK EXTRA STOP LIGHT

Chief of Police Wants Signal at Yates and Blanshard

Expenditure of funds left over from the original appropriation for the installation of automatic traffic signals is sought by Chief of Police Thomas Heatley to pay for another signal at the intersection of Yates and Blanshard streets.

His request was conveyed in a letter to the City Council, received at the City Hall to-day.

"I am advised that after all expenses have been met in connection with the recent installation of automatic traffic signals, there is a balance in the appropriation sufficient to cover the cost of equipping one more intersection."

"Such being the case I am recommending to the City Council that the intersection of Yates and Blanshard Streets, be equipped with signals.

BUSY INTERSECTION
"This is a very busy intersection;
in the heart of the theatre district and one where pedestrian, as well as vehicular, traffic is very heavy, both as regards the proximity to different theatres and the Public Library, and the fact that Yates Street is one of the main arteries into the business centre from Oak Bay and other districts. I have personally observed the intersection at different times and am convinced that its nature is such as to warrant traffic control."

"Next year I will recommend the equipping of another busy intersection, that of Johnson and Government Streets, but in the meantime I trust that the City Council will appreciate the necessity of early action as regards Yates and Blanshard Streets."

The Delusions of a Socialist

A Reply to A. B. Sanders
By OWEN JULL

It is almost refreshing to find Mr. A. B. Sanders repeating delusions about Social Credit that were exploded two years or more ago; delusions which first gained currency when British Socialists first awakened to Social Credit and attacked it without first finding out what it was. And so, with the space kindly given by the editor, it will not be at all difficult to explode Mr. Sanders' delusions.

In the first place, the Galtzell analysis of Social Credit, which is apparently the source of Mr. Sanders' thinking, was blasted out of British reviews immediately after its publication in Mr. Cole's book, the reason being its combination of errors concerning Douglas and errors invented by Mr. Galtzell himself.

Our local Socialist intelligentsia, being a little retarded in their progress, are naturally a little retarded in their discovery of this. What laughed Galtzell out of the list of Douglas critics was his ridiculous statement, religiously copied down by Mr. Sanders, that "consumers do not have to pay to the retailer the aggregate of all costs but only the aggregate of the retailers' costs."

One does not have to be an economist to see how silly that is, even though some economists have swallowed it without blinking. Even Mr. Sanders should be able to see that in paying the retailer for an article the consumer does, in fact, pay every single cost charged against that article from the raw material to the finished state. The cost of all capital investment, the cost of all taxation, the cost of every intermediate process—all these costs are finally and irrevocably embodied in the price of the final goods which the consumer has to buy unless the economic system is to break down; and, as stated by Douglas and is recognized by anyone over the mental age of twelve, unless purchasing power in the hands of the people is equal, at any given moment, to the total of all costs of consumer goods on sale at that time, then these costs cannot be completely liquidated by being recovered in prices.

If you should ask me why Galtzell made such a humorous error and why his less intelligent socialist readers repeat them my only reply would be that spleen had deprived them of what little wit they started with.

Help Kidneys

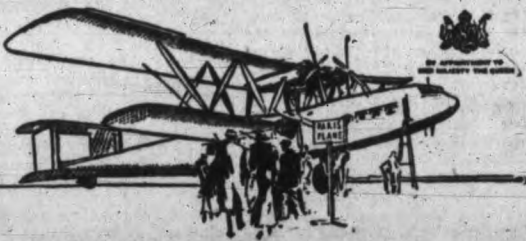

If you suffer from Getting Up Night, Nervousness, Loss of Sleep, Swollen Ankles, Dizziness, Headaches, Loss of Pen, Burning, Smarting, Itching, Acidity, Kidney or Bladder troubles, try the Doctor's prescription Cyston. It is a powerful diuretic, increases the flow of urine, and cures these troubles in a few days or money back. Cyston costs only 50c a dose at drugists.

THIS IS THE WAY TO HAPPINESS

There's nothing—absolutely nothing—to take the place of perfect health as the foundation of a happy life. And no better way for every one to get it than to turn to that famous tonic wine, Wincarnis.

Wincarnis is not a drug. It is simply the purest of fine wine with all the valuable properties of the 2½ lbs. of grapes which go to every bottle, combined with the strengthening elements of beef and guaranteed vitamin salt extracts. From your first glass of Wincarnis you will feel new vigour stealing through your veins. You will sleep more soundly, wake more refreshed. Cabinet Draws On Wide Experience

But Six of Members of New King Ministry Are Still in Their Forties

Ottawa, Oct. 25.—Excluding the veteran Senator Raoul Dandurand, who will resume his old office of government leader in the Upper House, the cabinet selected by Premier Mackenzie King is made up of comparatively young men. Six of them are in their forties, five have reached the age of fifty, a few some years over, while only three exceed the three-score mark. The average age of the cabinet is fifty-two years.

The oldest in point of years is Hon. J. C. Elliott, Postmaster-General, a bachelor of sixty-three. He is two years senior to the Prime Minister, and three years older than Hon. W. D. Roper, Minister of Trade and Commerce.

The "youngsters" of the cabinet are Hon. Norman Rogers, Minister of Labor, who has just attained forty-one; Hon. J. L. Flaxey, Minister of National Revenue, is the same age. Hon. Ian MacKenzie, Minister of National Defence, is forty-five.

The first Canadian treaty with a foreign country made independently of the United Kingdom, a fisheries agreement with United States, bears the signature of Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice in the new government. Mr. Lapointe was first elected to the House for Kamouraska, Que., in 1904. He was appointed Minister of Marine and Fisheries in 1921 and Minister of Justice in 1924, serving till 1930.

MR. DUNNING
Hon. Charles A. Dunning has become Minister of Finance for the second time. For years he was a leader among western grain growers. He entered the Saskatchewan Legislature in 1916. In 1922 he became premier and in 1926 moved to the federal field as Minister of Railways.

On the death of Hon. James Robb he became Minister of Finance. In 1929, at the age of forty-four, he was defeated in the 1930 election. He was born in England.

MR. ELLIOTT
Hon. John Campbell Elliott, new Postmaster-General, is another liberal veteran. His entry into politics was dated 1908, when he was elected to the Ontario Legislature. He jumped to the federal house in 1926 and in 1928 became Minister of Labor. Since then he has been Minister of Health and Minister of Public Works.

MR. EULER
Hon. William D. Euler, who becomes Minister of Trade and Commerce, has been a national figure in the Liberal Party since he entered the House in 1917 as a follower of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. From 1926 to 1930 he was Minister of National Revenue.

MR. CRERAE
Hon. Thomas Alexander Crerai enters a Liberal ministry again, this time with the portfolio of Immigration and Interior. In 1917 he became Minister of Agriculture in Sir Robert Borden's Union government; in 1921 he led the Western Progressive insurgents who invaded Parliament.

MR. HUSLEY
James Lorimer Husley is another of the younger members entering a cabinet. For the first time, representing Nova Scotia as Minister of National Revenue. He was a member of the Price Spreads Commission, taking a prominent part in its deliberations. He was born at Somerset, N.S., and resides at Kentville, N.S. He is a lawyer.

MR. MICHAUD
Joseph Enoll Michaud is almost a novice in the House of Commons although his entry in 1933 was a climax to a comparatively long experience of New Brunswick politics. He is the new Minister of Fisheries. He entered the House at a famous by-election in Restigouche-Madawaska, winning that riding for the Liberals. He was a minister without portfolio in New Brunswick from 1921 to 1925 and resigned from the Legislature to contest the federal riding. He is a lawyer, forty-seven years of age and lives in Edmundston, N.B.

MR. RINFRET
One of the most eloquent speakers in the House of Commons in English or French, Hon. Fernand Rinfret, Secretary of State, has held a seat since 1920. He was Secretary of State in the former King cabinet from 1926 to 1930.

PROF. ROGERS
Hon. Norman MacLeod Rogers, M.A., B.C.L., professor of Political Science at Queen's University, is a Nova Scotian, a Rhodes scholar and a war veteran. He was born in Amherst, N.S., in 1894. On his return from Oxford he became professor of history at Acadia and was admitted to the Nova Scotia bar. In 1927 he was appointed Secretary to Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King and in 1929 took the political science chair at Queen's. During the last year he served as counsel for the royal commission investigating economic affairs in the province. He is the author of "Mackenzie King," a sketch of the Liberal leader.

MR. HOWE
Hon. Clarence Decatur Howe, native of Massachusetts and a naturalized Canadian citizen, is the new Minister of Railways and Marine. He is a former professor of civil engineering who now heads his own concern, C. D. Howe & Company, engaged in design and construction supervision of grain elevators, pulp mill, coal docks and heavy engineering structures. He was born in Waltham, Mass., January 15, 1886, and educated at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. For five years he was professor of civil engineering at Dalhousie University, Halifax, and from 1913 to 1916, chief engineer for the board of grain commissioners at Fort William. He then formed his own company. In the last few years he has traveled considerably, studying world trade, particularly factors surrounding the grain business.

MR. CARDIN
Hon. Pierre Joseph Arthur Cardin, who becomes Minister of Public Works, is known as one of the strong, silent men of the House. Born at Sorel, Que., fifty-six years ago, he studied law in Montreal. He has been a House member since 1911, representing Richelieu-Verchères. In 1924 he was appointed Minister of Marine and Fisheries, a post he held until 1930 except for a few months when the Conservatives were in office. It was under his administration that the present system of broadcasting control by the Canadian Radio Commission came into force.

MAJOR POWER
Hon. Charles Gavan (Chubby) Power, new Minister of Pensions and National Health, has been a member of Parliament since 1917, representing Quebec South. Born at Sillery, near Quebec, forty-seven years ago, he is a lawyer and had a brilliant war career, winning the Military Cross. One of the leading authorities in Parliament on veterans' problems, Mr. Power was chairman of the special pensions committee of the House of Commons which drafted the present pensions act. He lives in Quebec.

MR. MACKENZIE
At forty-five Hon. Ian Alistair Mackenzie of Vancouver becomes a cabinet minister for the second time, assuming the portfolio of National Defence. His political career extends back to 1920 when he entered the British Columbia Legislature. In 1928 he became Provincial Secretary. Just prior to the Dominion election of 1930 he entered Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King's cabinet as immigration minister. A Highland Scot, Mr. Mackenzie graduated from Edinburgh University in arts and law, with honors in classics. He came to Canada in 1914.

TRADE VOLUME CONTINUES RISE

New York, Oct. 25.—While retailers' inventories, which had been scant all summer, were holed substantially during September, the widening consumer demand has created an actual need for further accumulations of merchandise, Dun and Bradstreet Inc., say in their report to-day. The heavy inroads on stocks was evident in the abrupt rise in buying in the leading wholesale markets during the week and the uniformity of the requests for immediate shipment. As the fall buying movement was delayed in starting, so much will be crowded into the next few weeks that shortages are in prospect for some of the most popular items. The delivery situation has eased somewhat but a number of branches still are handicapped by delayed factory shipments.

A rising price level, which prompted fresh commitments covering more disbursements, featured buying in most of the wholesale divisions, but mail orders generally were larger than a week earlier and covered a wider range of items. Most of the reorders for women's coats specified the dress types topped with generous collars of fur, as the demand for swagers decreased. Gloves, hosiery, shoes, and accessories moved out steadily, and

STORIES IN STAMPS

For turning back, after starting on his projected 6,000-mile flight from Moscow to San Francisco by way of the North Pole, Pilot Segmund Levanovsky has received not only the commendation of the Soviet authorities, but the honor of having a special stamp issued for him. Failure of the flight, due to a defective oil line, became the more glorious when the intrepid pilot flashed back the request for permission to return, as a good obedient Soviet citizen should do. Levanovsky is one of the pilots who participated in the daring rescue of the ice-breaker Tseliusk, in 1934, when the ship was trapped with 101 Russians in the ice-floe in the Bering Strait. For that heroic deed, also, he has been honored on one of a series of stamps issued by the Soviet government in commemoration of the rescue. That stamp is shown here.

more orders were received for sweaters and underwear. There was a fair volume of reorders for men's suits, but most of the mail requests were for topcoats, hats and furnishings. Home dressmaking has failed to hold the popularity attained a year ago, and orders for yard goods of velvet, silk, woolen and cotton have been on the downward trend this fall. Home knitting, on the other hand, is on the increase, and orders for materials for art needlework departments have risen since early in September. Both for radios and pianos, orders bulked larger than a year ago. Further headway was made in the buying of greeting cards, candles, gift items and toiletries for the Christmas selling season. Halloween novelties, jewelry, silverware and furniture helped to swell volume for the week.

INDUSTRIAL RISE RESUMED
The average of industrial operations has started to rise again, as both the motor and steel divisions have commenced to increase schedules. With the rate of the former more than double last year's, and output of the latter up 25 per cent, the sustained activity in the production of farm equipment, electrical supplies, building materials and some branches of the textile industry have lifted the average about 45 per cent above its comparative 1934 position. Hardware, paints, and those lines identified with building operations were well to the fore in the divisions maintaining recent high levels, in order to meet current demands or to building inventories.

Some of the die plants serving the automobile industry have shifted to a twenty-four-hour basis, and most of the machine shops and foundries have made additions to their pay rolls. Heavier orders from automobile manufacturers have helped the steel industry, and there has been only a slight check to the rate of consumption by makers of farm and household equipment. Buying of steel by railroads still is light, but outlook for structural has improved. Demand for safety glass was stronger, but schedules were unchanged for the week; plate glass output declined. Production of electrical equipment averaged 10 per cent higher than a year ago, and sanitary and heating equipment about 20 per cent. Buying of finished woollens was at a slower rate, but mills continued busy, the recent price increases having stimulated new demand. The market for cotton grey goods continued strong and the finished product sold well, but cotton mills have not increased production to any extent, despite the decrease in stocks. New business in knitted underwear continued heavy, particularly for sweaters and sport garments. Manufacturers of heavyweight underwear were pressed by wholesalers for merchandise, which should have been ordered last summer.

FORD V-8

TRUCKS AND COMMERCIAL MODELS

Proved by the Past

... Improved for the Future

"WHAT can we do to make them better?" All during the year, Ford engineers have been seeking the answer to that question. They took nothing for granted. They went back to the basic design of each truck and commercial model part... and asked themselves, "Is this the best part for the purpose? Have any newer designs, new materials or later manufacturing methods been devised that will enable us to make this part more reliable, more efficient, longer lasting?"

The Ford V-8 Truck Engine, the full-floating rear axle, torque-tube drive, the heavy-duty Ford transmission, centre-force clutch and Ford cab construction—all these and many more were subjects of an intensive study in an effort to "make them better."

And now for 1936, Ford V-8 Trucks and Commercial Models have been improved for the future. All trucks have improved appearance, better brakes, new needle-bearing universal joints, easier steering, improved cooling and larger axle shafts. New additions to the Ford V-8 Truck line will be the 2-ton and 1½-ton De Luxe Trucks. These De Luxe models have a chromium-plated radiator shell and grille, chromium-plated windshield frame, and two De Luxe horns. Inside the cab they have special appointments such as dome light, sun visor, cigar lighter and ash tray, ventilating rear window and twin windshield wipers.

Ford V-8 Trucks and Commercial Models have been PROVED BY THE PAST and IMPROVED FOR THE FUTURE. Prove this statement. Try a 1936 Ford V-8 Truck or Commercial Model on your own job, without obligation. Call your Ford dealer today and set a date for an "on-the-job" test... with your own loads... over your own routes.

NIAGARA FALLS ATTRACT MANY

Wonders of Famous Waters Takes Thousands to Shredded Wheat Plant

Whenever Mother Nature gets busy at her famous Canadian beauty spot—Niagara Falls—and changes the routine in her ever-fascinating spectacle, there is always a rich harvest to be reaped by local hotels, tourist homes, etc., from the flood of visitors which follows.

Thus, two years ago when thousands of tons of rock cracked from the tip of the Horseshoe Falls, the usual heavy complement of visitors from all over the world was increased many times over. Exactly the same experience followed the recent blasting of another section of rock for purposes of safety. The holiday season crowd of sightseers was greatly increased by people curious to see what changes had taken place.

Definite evidence of the widespread interest in Niagara's interesting show is provided by the visitors' record book of the Canadian Shredded Wheat plant near the falls. For here is an ever-fascinating attraction, too. The huge bakery is one of the show places prepared for thousands of visitors daily. And immediately after the two above-mentioned incidents at the falls the stream of people interested in the preparation of the delicious golden-brown biscuits increased many times over.

The wheat is steam-cooked under pressure in big, sealed kettles—just so long, at just the right temperature. Then comes that interesting process of making the softened wheat grains into long strands and forming the biscuits. The pans of biscuits on their "tortilla wheel" ride in the ovens are baked at exactly the right temperature, exactly the right number of minutes, and in due time come back to the oven door to be removed—crisp, fragrant, golden-brown and utterly tempting.

It is by the fluctuation in the number of visitors interested in the plant that the Canadian Shredded Wheat Company Ltd. are able to gauge the attracting power of the falls. For a good proportion of people who travel to see the falls invariably visit the food plant.

Vancouver, Oct. 25.—Walter Lindrum, Australia's world champion professional English billiardist, increased his lead over Clark McConaghy to 566 points in yesterday's session, the second of the opening of their transcanada exhibition tour.

When play finished for the night, Lindrum had compiled a total of 1,966, compared to McConaghy's 1,430.

The Australian had high breaks of 365, 219, and 238. McConaghy's highest break was 206.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

OCTOBER 25, 1910

In an important report from the legislative committee of the City Council, submitted at last evening's session of the latter body, the agreement between the corporation of the City of Victoria and the Esquimalt Water Works Company, whereby the city may expropriate the holdings of the company, was set out and endorsed by the council.

Naples, Oct. 22.—Ravaged by earthquakes, by volcanic fire and by flood, the provinces of Naples and Salerno to-day present scenes of desolation and suffering. The authorities, apparently appalled by the destructive combination of the elements, practically are inactive while admitting that the fatalities of yesterday are enormous.

Belmont Park, N.Y., Oct. 25.—After one of the most thrilling exhibitions ever witnessed in America, J. Armstrong Drexel, millionaire clubman of Pittsburgh, was declared winner of the speed contest on aviation field here yesterday. Drexel flew 71 miles an hour at one point in the race and at all times was closely approaching a mile-a-minute clip.

At least four new steamers are likely to be brought out from the Old Country for service on this coast during the next two years if plans now being considered by three companies are carried out. While no official confirmation can be obtained it is generally believed that the G.E.R. is figuring on the possible purchase of a sister ship, to the Princess Adelaide, now on the way from Glasgow to Victoria, and also a steamship to be used on the northern B.C. ports run.

Pender Island

The Women's Missionary Society of the United Church held their tenth anniversary celebration last Friday evening when seventy-five sat down to a supper in the Hope Bay Hall. An enjoyable part of the programme was an interesting pageant given by the children under the direction of Mrs. A. H. Menzies, Mrs. F. C. Smith and Miss Rita Smith in costume representing the various countries of the world in which the church has its mission fields. Jimmy Auchterlonie gave a recitation entitled "My Missionary Men." The members of the auxiliary gave a short play depicting the many branches of work covered by the society both at home and abroad, interspersing the items with verses of hymns. At the conclusion the birthday cake was cut and distributed. Those assisting with the supper were Mrs. S. P. Corbett, Mrs. F. Auchterlonie, Mrs. J. L. Miller, Mrs. W. B. Johnston, Mrs. P. Reddy-buff and Mrs. Adams.

Mrs. S. P. Corbett, Mrs. N. N. Crimmer, Mrs. W. B. Johnston and Mrs. F. C. Smith have returned home from Victoria where they attended the Women's Institute convention.

Miss Wilma Sones of Victoria is a guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sones.

Miss Edith Bowerman has returned to Victoria after spending a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walton Bowerman, Hope Bay.

Mrs. Julius Eriksen and infant son are spending some time with her mother, Mrs. J. A. Brackett, Browning Harbor. Mrs. Eriksen was accompanied home from Vancouver by her sister, Mrs. George Nelson of Ganges, who, with her little son, Teddy, spent last week with her mother.

The Otter Bay herring saltery has been operating since early this month and many local men and boys are employed there. Don Counsilman, former engineer, is again in charge since the new engineer, Mr. Deacon Joynt, has met with a painful accident shortly after the season opened. Several minor accidents have since been reported among the men, the latest being a leg injury suffered by Peter Moore.

Miss Peggy Smith of Glyn, Saanich, has returned to her home after a holiday with her grandmother, Mrs. A. Taylor, at Browning Harbor.

T. J. Scott of Hope Bay is spending a few weeks with friends in Victoria. The marriage took place in Burnaby on Wednesday last of Miss Maude Louise Dickinson, youngest daughter of E. R. Dickinson and the late Mrs. Dickinson, to Allan Roy Adams, eldest son of Mrs. H. T. Adams and the late Herbert T. Adams of Pender Island.

Miss Dickinson was for six years teacher of junior division at the local school and on her leaving for Vancouver early this summer she was presented with a vanity set as a token of esteem by her pupils and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Adams will make their home on the island.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Robinson are spending a couple of weeks with the latter's mother, Mrs. J. MacDonald. Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Scott have returned to their home at Port Washington after a three months' trip to England.

Capt. H. G. Scott has left for a tour of eastern Europe to gather material for his lectures before the Canadian clubs of Canada. During his absence Mrs. Scott is remaining at their cottage here.

Strawberry Vale

Under the auspices of the Strawberry Vale Women's Institute, a successful bridge party and old-time dance was held in the Institute Hall, Wilkinson Road, on Monday evening, under the convenship of Mrs. G. Austin. The prize list was as follows: Ladies' first, Mrs. H. Harrison; second, Mrs. A. Longland; men's first, William Paine; second, Gilbert McNutt. Refreshments were served by a refreshment committee, after which dancing was enjoyed, the music being supplied by a new "old-time" orchestra under the direction of Headley Bowers. Throughout the evening the drawing took place of the lucky ticket in connection with the cushion tombola, Mrs. D. Johnston being the winner. Arrangements were made for the forthcoming five hundred card party which will be held on Monday, October 28.

The members of Onwego Young People's Society of Garden City, Wilkinson Road United Church, held their weekly meeting in Wilkinson Sunday school room Tuesday evening. The president, Gordon Ritz, was in the chair. Arrangements were made for a visit to Oak Bay United Y.P.S. next Tuesday and for an amateur night to be held Tuesday, November 5, under the convenship of Jean Frye. The main feature of the evening was a debate on the topic: "Resolved, that since the Great War, women had made more progress than men." After presentation of the various arguments the negative side was voted the honors. Those taking part included: Misses Jessie Ritz, Beatrice Jones, Charles Martin and Jack Allan. The judges were the Misses Lillian Martin and Grace Scott, and Vincent Ruch and Charles Miller. The programme was under the convenship of Ian Humphries.

Royal Oak

The pupils of Grade 4A, 5 and 6, of the Royal Oak School, surprised their teacher, Miss Eileen Foster, on Monday, the occasion being her birthday. leadership of the Inter-city Soccer League yesterday with a 3 to 1 victory over St. Saviours. It was the first loss of the current schedule for the Saints and left the Royals with a clean slate so far.

St. Saviours opened the scoring with the only goal of the first half when McMurdo picked up Heath's pass and booted it between the uprights.

Shortly after resumption Watchorn equalized on a penalty kick and a few minutes later passed over to Hendrickson, who put the Royals ahead.

Less than twenty minutes from the final whistle Findler made sure of the decision when he banged in his own rebound.

WALLACE IS AFTER BOUT

Seeks Title Match With Barney Ross; Battled to Draw With Garcia

Vancouver, Oct. 25.—Gordon Wallace, Vancouver's Canadian welter king, looked hopefully eastward as his manager, Jack Allen, announced he would seek a title bout with world champion Barney Ross following Wallace's draw with Cefirino Garcia here Wednesday night.

"Garcia floored Ross twice in a recent bout in San Francisco," Allen said, "but on the strength of Gordon's showing against Garcia I think he is entitled to a shot at the world crown."

The Los Angeles Filipino left early yesterday en route south with complimentary words for his opponent's ability but firm in the belief he had a decided edge in the ten-round bout.

Wallace, facing the toughest test of his short career since he started his drive for the Canadian crown two years ago, piled up a comfortable margin over the first half of the route, saw his rugged opponent forge ahead in the next four rounds, then earned a draw with a rousing rally in the tenth.

There were no knockdowns as both fighters kept their chins tucked away out of harm most of the way, leaning over each other's shoulders and shooting short punches to the body or hooking to the side of the head.

WRESTLERS TO SHOW TO-NIGHT

Weekly Card Will Be Presented at Tillicum Gym; First Bout at 8.45

Heavyweight wrestlers will go into action to-night at the Tillicum gym, Broad Street, when promoter Fred Richardson stages his weekly aquitum card. The first event will get under way at 8.45 o'clock with George Lowe and Bing Wong, Chinese exponents, in a return match. This bout has been arranged by request by several fans.

In the eight ten-minute round main event Brother Jonathan, wrestling Mormon from Salt Lake City, will tackle Jack Forsgren, Vancouver's contribution to the grappling ranks.

In the five eight-minute round semi-windup Hans Schroeder, California, will tangle with Babe Zaharias, Colorado.

Fred Richardson will referee the main event and semi-windup.

Vancouver, Oct. 25.—"Blue Sun" Jennings, husky Cherokee Indian from Oklahoma, tossed Ted "King Kong" Cox, California, twice in the main event of yesterday evening's wrestling card—once to the canvas and once out of the ring. After landing among the customers, Cox was unable to return, conceding the deciding fall to the Indian.

Jennings weighed 245 and Cox 245. Bob Kruse, 220, Portland, took a two-fall decision from Hans Schroeder, 219, California, a newcomer to local grappling circles. Schroeder took the first fall in the second with a bar arm but fell victim to the crafty Kruse in the fourth and fifth rounds on armlocks.

Jack Forsgren, 242, Vancouver, took the only fall of his match with Andre Adoree, 220, Montreal, in the fifth round with a Boston crab.

Babe Zaharias, 228, Colorado, and Brother Jonathan, 242, Salt Lake City, went four fast rounds to a no-fall draw in another event.

Wyatt, Williamson, Kennedy, Oakman, Stewart, Barnwell, Okeil, Robinson and Holmes.

James Bay Wanderers—Sadler, Eastwood, Thane, Bourne, Fieldhouse, Speller, Garnet, Anderson, Belford Watson and Ball.

"Diamond Jim" Opens

Three-day Engagement at the Dominion Theatre

Characters of the gay 'nineties' the most colorful and romantic period in the history of the United States, come to life on the screen of the Dominion Theatre to-day when Universal's special production, "Diamond Jim," starring Edward Arnold, opens for a three-day engagement. The story deals with the life of James Buchanan Brady, the man who made the gay nineties gay, and is in reality the portrait of an era.

Arnold, who heads the cast, actually resembles the super-salesman—the man who won $2,000,000 worth of jewelry—who asked Lillian Russell to marry him and offered her a million-dollar dowry—who made and lost fortunes while selling and manufacturing railroad equipment. Supporting him are Jean Arthur, blonde stage and screen star—Binnie Barnes, as Lillian Russell—Cesar Romero, Hugh O'Connell, George Sidney, Eric Blore, Robert McWade and many other noted players, including a bevy of chorus girls with "hour glass figures."

The story opens with Brady's birth in 1856 and carries on to his death after a full and colorful life. His cleverness in getting his first important job, in putting over million-dollar deals, and his prodigality in giving $100,000 parties, his romance with Jane Matthews and his devotion to Lillian Russell, all are shown in the colorful picture of life in the days of his career as unfolded.

Universal spent months making the lavish production, which is complete and accurate in detail from jeweled bicycles which Brady rode, to the interior of the theatre where Miss Russell made her debut in "La Cigale."

Bustanoby's Rector's, Delmonico's and other famous restaurants, where "Diamond Jim" gulped a gallon of orange juice and ate sixteen-course dinners at a single sitting—he was one of the greatest eaters of all time due to the amazing size of his stomach—have been recreated for the screen.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

An impressive supporting cast surrounds Shirley Temple in her current Fox Film success, "Our Little Girl," now playing at the Playhouse Theatre. Rosemary Ames and Joel McCrea portray the parents governing matrimony. Others are Lyle Talbot, Erin O'Brien-Moore, Margaret Armstrong, Rita O'Connell, Leonard Carey, J. Farrell MacDonald, Jack Donohue, Gus Van and Jack Bailey.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

In the six Charlie Chan roles which Warner Oland has enacted prior to his current vehicle, "Charlie Chan in Paris," now at the Columbia Theatre, he has had a variety of leading ladies: Marguerite Churchill, Sally Eilers, Marian Nixon, Heather Angel and Drus Leyton have appeared with him in these previous films, Drus Leyton in two. In the new film, Mary Brian is his leading lady.

LITTLE ORPHEUM THEATRE

During the filming of "Caravan," the lavish Fox Film musical spectacle now at the Orpheum Theatre, many thousands of Tokay grapes were required for the harvest scenes. California grapes were substituted in most cases. But when a close-up of Charles Boyer eating Tokays was required, the prop department supplied ripe olives instead. They turned out to resemble genuine Tokays better than California did.

Knights of Pythias

The funeral of our late Brother T. Silvers will be held at 3:30 p.m. on Saturday, from Santa Mortuary. All members of the Order are requested to attend.

Coal and Petroleum Products Commission

The above-named Commission will sit at the Victoria Court House on Monday, the 28th day of October, 1935, at 10 a.m., at which time representations will be received from all persons in respect to matters within the scope of the above-named Commission.

Dated at Victoria, British Columbia, this Twenty-fifth day of October, 1935.

R. W. HARTLEY, Secretary to the Commission.

C.C.F. Election Propaganda Denied

By A. & N. Veterans

Lyle Telford Flayed By Soldier Heads

The statement made by Lyle Telford during the election campaign that five hundred dollars had been paid through Robert Wilkinson, M.L.A., President, to the action committee of ex-service men, for the purpose of promoting an ex-service men's rally, was fully dealt with at the quarterly meeting of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, B.C. Command.

The finance committee passed the auditor's report, examined all vouchers and cheques paid out by the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, B.C. Command, and found the statements of Lyle Telford were malicious and false.

The finance committee further reported that no money whatsoever had been paid out to the organization known as the W.C.L. or to any other.

The committee also expressed their great regret that President Wilkinson's good name should have been so impugned.

"The 39 Steps"

Opens To-morrow

While rummaging through a drawer, Godfrey Tearle, the villain in GB's screen version of "The 39 Steps," co-starring Robert Donat and Madeleine Carroll and showing to-morrow at the Capitol Theatre, came upon an old golf ball. He studied it for some time, heaved a deep sigh and returned the golf ball to its resting place, almost weeping for the days when he had the time to play that ancient and honorable game.

Tearle has been kept busy for nearly thirty years devoting his time to the screen and the stage. Born in New York, October 12, 1884, he was educated in England at the Carlisle Grammar School. He made his first stage appearance as the young Duke of York in "Richard III." Six years later he went on tour in the company of his father, Omond Tearle. For two years he played the English provinces. Then followed a tour with repertory companies, playing such roles as Hamlet, Shylock and Romeo. He made his London debut in May, 1906, as the Earl of Bothwell in "Mary Queen of Scots."

ANN HARDING TO KEEP DAUGHTER

Associated Press

Los Angeles, Oct. 25.—Blonde Ann Harding of the screen yesterday scored a sweeping victory over her ex-husband, Harry Bannister, when Superior Judge Lewis Howell Smith ruled that she may retain sole custody of her seven-year-old daughter, Jane.

The decision was accompanied by provisions governing Bannister's right to have "reasonable visitation" with the child at stated intervals.

Appreciation is forgotten too often in most of our homes

THE SOVEREIGN preventive of divorce is appreciation. More marriages are wrecked by the lack of a few kind words than by any other cause. You have to lubricate the domestic machinery with a little oil of flattery to keep it from breaking down.

Getting married does not automatically turn an ordinary faulty human being into a pin-feathered angel. Every husband and wife have peculiarities and prejudices and cantankerous little ways that the other must put up with. Every marriage calls for self-sacrifice and labor. Every home is literally built with the blood and sweat of its occupants, and whether or not all of this self-abnegation and work and worry and anxiety is worth while depends altogether on the attitude of the husband and wife toward each other.

If they show they recognize and appreciate the efforts that each puts forth to make the other happy and comfortable, all is well and good and happiness reigns in that household. But if each takes all that the other does for granted without even saying "thank you," every sacrifice becomes a grievance, the performance of every duty a martyrdom. It is so easy and so sweet to do things for those who burn a little of the incense of gratitude at our feet, and so hard and so bitter to be compelled to do things for those who accept our offerings as no more than their right, and not half of what they deserve.

Thousands upon thousands of letters come to this column from disgruntled husbands and wives telling of marriages that are failures. Cynical men write that their wives regard them as nothing but cash registers, that they are slave-drivers who are willing to work them to death to get the luxuries they crave. Disillusioned women complain that they are nothing but a household convenience to their husbands and that their husbands never notice them except to find fault if something goes wrong with the human gadget, and the floor isn't swept or the roast is burned.

"I spend my life toiling for my family," says the man. "I slave through cold winters and hot summers while my wife and children go off to Palm Beach and the mountains. I never take a vacation of more than a week. I wear last year's overcoat while my wife has two new cloaks. But do you think that my wife realizes that I make any sacrifices for her and the children? Does she ever think that I would like a little of the money I make for myself and that I have tastes that I would like to gratify? Not a bit of it. She assumes that I have some peculiarity of disposition that makes me prefer drudgery to playing, and instead of being grateful for what I give her she is dissatisfied because it isn't more."

The woman says: "I work my fingers to the bone to make my husband comfortable. I pinch every penny to try to save his money and walk blocks and blocks to find cut-rate butchers and cheap vegetables. I spend hours every day over the cook stove preparing the dishes he likes. I do without the smart clothes I love because I won't run him in debt. I've dropped out of the clubs I enjoy because they take time and money that we can't afford. I do without the amusements I crave because I try to do a good job as wife and mother. But does my husband ever give me the glad hand?"

"Never. He just takes it for granted that I like to look shabby and that the only thing I really get a kick out of is cooking and scrubbing, and that I prefer pushing a perambulator to riding in a Rolls-Royce."

But how the picture would change if it were lighted up by a little appreciation. Nothing can alter the basic facts of marriage. For the average man it must always be a grind of hard work to support his family. He is sold into domestic slavery on his wedding day, but his fetters are gilded and become a treasure that he hugs to his breast instead of a chain that galls him if his wife shows him daily and hourly how she appreciates all of the sacrifices he makes for her and the children, and if she tells him that she thinks that no hero has anything on the man who lays his life on the altar of duty.

And how it would rob a wife's lot of all its hardness and turn it into an Elysium if only her husband would show her a little appreciation! If only he would notice what she did for him. If only he would praise her cooking and her economies and tell her how grateful he was to her for her help and her devotion. It isn't that wives mind working and doing without things. It is their husbands being so dumb about praising them for it that gets on their nerves.

It is appreciation that we all crave, and if husbands and wives would show each other more of it, it would stop divorce.

Uncle Wiggily and the Bear's Necklace

By HOWARD E. GARIS

When Uncle Wiggily was ill with a cold one day, Mrs. Stubbins, his wife, sent her husband over to the Hollow Swamp Jungles to see how Mr. Longears was feeling.

"Not so well," said Uncle Wiggily, who was sitting out on the side porch wrapped in a cabbage leaf blanket. "I should like to shake off this cold."

"What you need," said Mr. Stubbins, in his gruff, growling yet kind voice, "is some honey mush."

"What in the world is honey mush?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"It is honey boiled up with corn flakes," said the bear gentleman. "My wife makes it for my kids. It should be good for you and get her to make you some."

"You are very kind," said Uncle Wiggily. In a short time, Mrs. Stubbins was back with some honey mush his wife had made, and when Uncle Wiggily had taken some of it he went to bed, had a fine sleep and in the morning his cold was all gone.

GIFT FOR MRS. BEAR

"The honey mush did it," he said to his wife, hopping around on one paw as he kissed her. For he felt very fine. "Mrs. Stubbins's honey mush cured my cold and now I'd like to do something for her. Would you, mind, my dear, be asked his wife, 'If I gave the bear lady a little present?'"

"Certainly not, Wiggily!" laughed Mrs. Longears. "Why should I? Give Mrs. Stubbins a present - I think a necklace would be nice. She is very fond of ornaments."

"A necklace it shall be!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "And I know the very best kind to give her."

"What?" asked his wife.

"A necklace made of horse chestnuts," said the rabbit gentleman. "I know where there's a pile of them that Johnnie and Billie Stubbins, the children, gathered to put in snowballs for weeks this winter. They'll give me enough of the nuts to make a necklace for Mrs. Stubbins and it will look lovely on her."

"Yes, I think it will," said the rabbit lady. "Being a bear, Mrs. Stubbins is very big and she has a thick neck. Large things like horse chestnuts will make a better necklace for her than small beads of buckles."

Uncle Wiggily got a box of the large brown nuts and his wife and Mrs. Stubbins' Fussy Wussy helped him string them. They made a wonderful necklace, rather large and heavy, but just right for a bear.

Happy because Mrs. Stubbins's honey mush had cured his cold, Uncle Wiggily started off one day to take her the necklace. As he hopped the woods he saw all of a sudden out from the bushes jumped the Fox, the Wolf and the Bob Cat.

"We were waiting for you and now we have you!" howled the Fox.

"Not yet!" cried Uncle Wiggily. He swung Mrs. Stubbins's necklace around through the air and banged the Fox, the Wolf and the Bob Cat with it. The Fox yelled "Wow!"

"My turn to catch him!" mewed the Bob Cat.

"Yes, and your turn for this!" shouted the bunny gentleman, and he whacked the bear's necklace. That did it. Chaps! "And now your turn, Mr. Wolf!" chuckled Mr. Longears, and he served the Wolf the same way, swinging the bear's chestnut necklace hard at him. So the Bob Cat and the Wolf joined the Fox in yelling "Wow! Wow!" and away they all ran.

Then Mr. Longears hopped on with the necklace, which wasn't even scratched, and when Mrs. Stubbins saw it she liked it wonderfully well.

So if you will take your summer coat of tan and make out of it a vest for the winter, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's pumpkin seed party.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1935

Mingled good and evil aspects are discerned today. According to astrologers, it is a time for settling old accounts of every sort.

Novel changes in coins and increased number of small financial transactions will make it hard for bankers to employ many more bookkeepers and clerks than formerly.

Women are subject to widely fortunate influences. Many will obtain positions, but only small salaries will be offered. Stars smile on all hospitalities today. Men fortunate for entertainers to-day, guests and other social functions.

Country life is to gain greatly in popularity and more many city residents for the year. Closer relations with neighbors will be sought as communities develop methods of protection from marauders of every sort.

Labor is under a rule of the stars that indicates stubborn resistance to demands and policies of capital on the part of employees. Those who have positions in the sun are under fortunate sway.

Older persons will make way for the younger generation in the business program for the winter. Modern methods are to supersede those of the past and many older men and women must be sacrificed for the general good.

Pensions for the aged will gain supporters and provision to meet moderate desires is assured in many states which will reject extreme methods of reward for persons near senescence.

Persons whose birthdate is 11 have the augury of a year of much happiness through contacts with friends. Financial matters will be of secondary interest.

Children born on this day probably will be talented musicians. Many subjects of this sign are much before the public.

William Auerbach Volmer, editor, was born on this day, 1887. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Adelaide Phillips, actress and singer, 1833, and E. M. Stiller, hotel owner, 1883.

VICTORIA CITY TEMPLE Y.P.S.

The weekly meeting of the Victoria City Temple Young People's Society was held Tuesday, Miss Ruth Hanson presiding.

The meeting opened with the singing of a hymn. Mrs. M. H. Hammond, was the guest speaker of the evening, speaking on world affairs. Most of her talk was devoted to the Italian-Ethiopian war.

D. Becknold gave some clever impersonations of different stars, as Joe Penner, Maurice Chevalier and others, all of which were warmly applauded. A spelling test conducted by Miss I. McDonald, caused much merriment, and was won by Miss J. Earl.

After the close the executive committee met for a short period to outline the program for another month.

The next meeting will be a Mid-lower party and will be held Tuesday, October 29. All members are requested to meet at 8 o'clock.

Piles Go Quick

With Dr. Leonhardt's Prescription

Many sufferers from itching, bleeding, protruding piles have found that quick relief can be had with an internal medicine.

Bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel is the cause of piles. The veins are congested and flabby, the bowel walls weak. This is why an internal medicine like HEM-ROID should be used. HEM-ROID stimulates the circulation, relieves the pressure of blood in the veins of the lower bowel and helps to heal and restore the sore, tender parts.

HEM-ROID is the prescription of Dr. G. Leonhardt, who spent several years of his professional life in finding the cause of piles and the medicine that would remove them. His medicine succeeds because it tends to correct the cause.

No matter what kind of piles you have or how long you have had them, if you want to give your back your money, if you do not find quick and satisfying relief, after using just one bottle, MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores or any drugist can supply you.

GULF ISLANDS FERRY CO. LIMITED

WAS CHIEF ON COAST SHIPS

Late James Pettitrew Saw Service on Many of the Princess Liners

Stricken suddenly at his home, after attending a football game in the afternoon, James Pettitrew, retired marine engineer of Victoria and pioneer of the coastal routes, passed away at his home, 2317 Quadra Street, yesterday evening. He was nearing his seventy-second birthday.

Born in Kilmarnock, Scotland, December 26, 1863, the late Mr. Pettitrew came to Canada when a young man and joined the Canadian Pacific Navigation Company in 1891. For two years he was second engineer on the old Danube. In July, 1896, he was named third engineer on the Charnier.

Mr. Pettitrew was appointed chief engineer on the Queen City in 1899. He also served on the R. P. Rithet and the Tees, as well as the old Princess Louise, the Amur and the Willapa.

LATE JAMES PETTITREW

In 1911 the late Mr. Pettitrew was sent to Scotland by his company to bring out the new Steamer Princess Alice. He stood by during her construction and brought her out to Victoria around the Horn. He served on many of the "Princesses" during his career, his last ship being the Vancouver-built Princess Louise.

RETIRED IN 1930
On November 1, 1930, "Chief" Pettitrew retired from the company's service, having reached superannuation age. He had been in the best of health and his passing comes as a distinct shock to his many old shipmates and others of his acquaintance in Victoria and at many coast ports where he became so well known in the early days.

Surviving him are the widow at the family residence; two daughters, Miss Agnes K. and Miss Ellen S.; two sons, John R. Pettitrew and J. C. Pettitrew, both in Victoria, and three brothers, William C., Robert and Hugh T. Pettitrew.

The remains are resting at the Thompson Funeral Home from where the funeral will be held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson will officiate and interment will be at Colwood Cemetery.

IF YOUR EARS RING WITH HEAD NOISES
If you have ringing, buzzing, roaring in your ears, are getting hard of hearing and fear Catarrh of the Ears, go to your drugist and get one ounce of Parina (double strength), and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will bring quick relief from the distressing head noise, breathing becomes easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrh of the ears, or has head noises should give this prescription a trial.

Around the Docks

Over 600 Victorians took advantage of the splendid weather and the holiday to visit Seattle yesterday aboard the Ss. Princess Louise.

The ship left Victoria at 8:30 o'clock in the morning and passengers reported a delightful cruise to the Puget Sound port, the weather being perfect for such an outing. An orchestra was carried for dancing and musical entertainment and four hours were given the excursionists in Seattle. The Louise returned to the harbor shortly after 10 o'clock in the evening.

LOADING LUMBER

The British freighter King Arthur, Capt. Alex. McWhirter, is to-day at the Ogden Point piers loading 450,000 feet of Vancouver Island lumber for Australia. King Brothers, local shipping agents, are handling the vessel. She will proceed from here to-morrow afternoon to complete her cargo at Port Alberni.

SHIPS IN DRYDOCK

The Princess Elizabeth and the Salvage King are to-day in the Dominion Government drydock at Esquimalt for seasonal overhaul, which will include cleaning and painting. The Victoria Machinery Depot is doing the work and expects to have both ships out to-morrow.

CHINESE SHIP ON COAST

The first Chinese ship to load on the North Pacific coast in many years, the freighter Sheng-Ho, of 8,500 tons, is to-day at Willapa Harbor taking 4,000,000 feet of lumber for Japan. The vessel is under charter to the United-Ocean Transport Company. She will complete her cargo on Grays Harbor and will sail from there to Japan.

COMING FROM ORIENT

The Blue Funnel Line's motorship Tantalus is now crossing the North Pacific on her way to Victoria from ports in China and Japan. She is due here next Monday. Yesterday evening at 8 o'clock she was 1,425 miles from Victoria, according to a report picked up at the Gonzales Wireless Station.

LEAVES ESQUIMALT

The freighter Noumea left Esquimalt Harbor at 7 o'clock yesterday evening and proceeded to Vancouver. She had been drydocked for overhaul by Yarrows Limited. The vessel operates under the Panamanian flag in service between the Pacific Coast and the South Sea Islands and Australia.

SALES TO-MORROW

Taking out 150 passengers, the American Mail liner President Jefferson, Capt. H. B. Clark, will sail for Victoria to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock for the Orient. She will leave Seattle at 11 o'clock in the morning and will spend two hours here before putting to sea.

REACHES HONOLULU

The sailing schooner Vigilant, famous five-master, formerly commanded by Capt. Matt. Peaseley, skipper in Peter B. Ryan's "Cappy Rick" tales of the sea, arrived in Honolulu Wednesday from Bellingham, with a full cargo of lumber, according to word received here this morning. The vessel sailed from Puget Sound September 18. She is commanded by Capt. Charles Melberg.

RESUME WORK ON CELLINA

Secretary of State Rules Copra Is Not Contraband Cargo; Italian Ship Loaded

San Francisco, Oct. 25.—Longshoremen resumed loading the Italian motorship Cellina late yesterday after a thirty-hour stop, apparently in an anti-war move against Italian aggression in Ethiopia.

Decision to end the blockade was reached on receipt of a telegram from secretary of state Cordell Hull, informing stevedore officials that copra, the disputed cargo, was not contraband.

Officials of the Libera Line, operators of the Cellina, had maintained the cargo in any event was not destined for Italian, but rather for South American ports.

Before the Cellina case was settled, three other ships, all owned by the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company became involved in a new dispute.

Crews walked off the freighters Nevada, Nebraska and Golden Tide in what the steamship company officials said was a protest against withdrawal of a pass to board the vessels which had been issued to an organizer of the International Seamen's Union.

WRECKED PLANE FOUND IN WOODS

Wreckage Found in New Brunswick May Be Mystery For All Time

Edmundston, N.B., Oct. 25.—Identification of a seaplane wrecked some years ago in dense woods of Madawaska County had not been made until yesterday. The wreckage, discovered by two young trappers, of the moss-covered wreckage in lonely wilderness about eight miles east of Edmundston was first reported here yesterday.

Officials still held to a generally accepted theory that the plane was one of a squadron known to have been engaged years ago in running contraband liquor from northern New Brunswick and the Gaspe Coast of Quebec. No credence was placed in rumors linking the wreck with the land plane of the French aviator Nungesser and Coli, who disappeared, presumably in the Atlantic, after leaving Paris in 1927 for a projected hop over the ocean.

The case may remain a mystery for all time. Investigators would require a week to reach the scene of the plane Mountain by foot. Other alternatives of travel would be via the Restigouche River or by plane to the nearest suitable clearing.

Served Railway For Many Years

Late "Tony" Silvene First Joined E. & N. in Construction Days in 1886

Funeral services for the late Anthony (Tony) Silvene, who passed away at his home at 3:30 o'clock yesterday evening, will be held to-morrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the chapel of the Sands Mortuary Limited. Rev. Canon Chadwick will officiate and the remains will be forwarded to Seattle for cremation.

For many years the late Mr. Silvene was connected with the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway. He knew hundreds of people up and down the line who will regret to hear of his death. He was with the company during construction of the road, being employed as a welder. That was in 1886. A few years later he was promoted to the position of locomotive fireman and in 1888 was made locomotive engineer. He retired on pension in 1925.

During all those years "Tony" never had an accident on the road. He was one of the most careful drivers on the line.

In his seventy-ninth year at the time of his death, the late Mr. Silvene came to Canada fifty-five years ago and half-a-century ago came to Victoria to take up residence. He made his home at 787 Transit Road, where he lived with his wife, Mrs. Silvene.

Mr. Silvene was well known for his many philanthropic works, although he was always quiet regarding such things. One of his chief interests was the Protestant Orphan's Home. He was also a good friend to the Friendly Help Society. He was a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Division No. 320, and belonged also to the Far East Victoria Lodge No. 1, Knights of Pythias.

SHIP WRECKAGE FOUND ON BEACH

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 25.—Wreckage picked up at two points on the New foundland coast yesterday indicated an unidentified steamship had sunk, perhaps with all hands.

Off Point May, on the south coast of the island, fishermen picked up a chair from a ship's saloon that had drifted ashore.

And off Tillamook three steamer hatches were found on the shore. There was no clue on them to indicate what ship they had come from.

Possibility was held here that the wreckage might be from the Joseph Medill, largest all-welded ship in the world, which disappeared more than a month ago on her maiden voyage from England to Montreal. Hope for her safety has been abandoned long ago.

FISHING BOATS FOUGHT STORM

One Man Drowned and Three Boats Lost During Great Gale Off Alaska Coast

Ketchikan, Alaska, Oct. 25.—All salmon trollers of a fleet of twelve caught in a raging gale two days ago were rescued, but one man drowned and three boats sunk.

The victim was Harold Moreth of Ketchikan, owner and only man aboard the small troller Premier, which foundered in deep water off Alaska Point Thursday, the coast guard cutter Cayne radioed here.

The Ivie, also operated by one man, sank in the same area, and the E. Nielson, with a two-man crew, went down half-a-mile northwest of Cora Point, the Cayne messaged. All three men were saved and the Cayne was bringing the Nielson's crew home.

Another troller, the Venus, Capt. William Mueller, rescued the Ivie's owner as the small fleet raced to safety at Coronation Island. Seven of the fleet, feared lost for many hours, were found near the island yesterday by the lighthouse tender Hemlock. Later the Hemlock radioed it had checked the entire fleet and two boats also feared lost previously were found.
